WASHINGTON—The office of economic opportunity—countering attacks by congressional critics of the poverty program—says it has accumulated high praise from mayors, police, newspapers and some Republican congressmen for the role of poverty workers in averting possible disasters in recent ghetto rioting. The OEO cited statistics to show that, of 6,700 persons arrested in 27 cities, only six were poverty workers.

WASHINGTON — Six senators demanded an escalation of the bombing against North Vietnam. They delivered their pleas publicly after sitting at a closed session of the Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee. Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., subcommittee chairman, said that the testimony of Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific, supported the senators' demands. Page One.

POSTMASTERSHIP POLITICAL PLUM

(Editor's Note: The following article is reprinted in its entirety as it was published this week in the Corry Evening Journal. The Journal has been continuing a probe of the system of appointing postmasters, as has the Times-Mirror and Observer.)

The degree to which the spoils system has penetrated into the U.S. Post Office Department is spelled out loud and clear in the case of the Columbus postmaster appointment.

It says unmistakably that, if a candidate is a member of the minority political party, he should not bother to take the Civil Service exam.

He can't get the appointment. For about a month, as The Journal has been looking into the appointments (or lack of them) at post offices in Columbus and Bear Lake, the picture of politics in the Post Office department proves that, no matter how insignificant the appointment, the patronage system takes over.

This is the case in Columbus, where a Republican (Michael Kuzma) scored highest and was the only candidate on the list of eligibles with veterans preference. A choice can be made from any of the top three and Kuzma, at one time was nominated by President Johnson and Sen. Joseph Clark, a Democrat, approved the nomination in the Senate.

But a new list of eligibles suddenly appeared carrying the name of Lloyd N. McCray, a Democrat with veterans preference who had scored fifth in the exams.

The list of eligibles consists normally of the top three scorers in the exams.

Seeking to get an insight into the steps leading up to the change, made without a new exam, The Journal wrote to Sena-

$11,000 'Tribute' To Postal Chairman

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski of Buffalo, chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, said yesterday that he had accepted for his personal use about $11,000 from the proceeds of a testimonial dinner in Buffalo in 1965.

He said he had taken the money "as a personal tribute," not as a political contribution. He denied that the contribution had influenced him on legislation.

Dulski issued a statement to that effect yesterday morning in response to an article in yesterday's Wall Street Journal in which the dinner was described.

The Journal had written that a number of lobbyists and representatives of big mailers and postal unions, as well as representatives of other federal employee unions, had been among

Housing Programs

Called 'Flop' by Official

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The executive director of the Pittsburgh Housing Authority declared yesterday that federal housing programs are a flop, tangled in red tape and without necessary funds.

Alfred E. Tronzo, who has headed the authority since 1955, said, "We are behind—the whole country is behind. After 29 years of effort, the whole public housing program all over the country is a failure."

Tronzo said his authority can't buy land or homes for the prices set by the government. He said the authority could raise more money to build housing by selling bonds, but federal laws permit the authority to spend only so much.

He said the only federal program which allots realistic limits for housing is among the elderly. There the authority can build high-rise apartments for the federal $2.60 per room ceiling.

But low-income families with children can't and won't live in high-rises, said Tronzo. And row-type housing can't be built for the $20,000 per unit ceiling set by Washington.

Senators Join Call For Sharp Escalation

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON—A number of senators who have consistently advocated greater reliance on air and sea power in the Vietnam war yesterday joined the demand for a sharp escalation of the air war against North Vietnam.

The demand came from members of the Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.

The subcommittee opened an investigation of the air war against North Vietnam with a day of closed testimony by Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Commander-in-Chief Pacific, who has overall responsibility for air and sea activity against North Vietnam.

Admiral Sharp is understood to have recommended attacks against Haiphong and other sensitive targets, but so far the White House has not accepted his recommendations. He reportedly testified to this effect before the subcommittee yesterday.

The senators called for an escalation of the air war a day after a similar demand in the House by Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., the minority leader.

Senator Stennis and other members of the subcommittee did not go as far as Ford in asserting that U.S. reinforcements were unjustified as long as the President maintained restraints on the air campaign against the north. But Stennis said it was "unreasonable" to commit another 45,000 men to the ground war in the south while the restrictions on the air and sea campaign against the north remained.

In a statement prior to the opening of the hearings yesterday morning, Senator Stennis asserted that suspension of a further restriction of the bombing would be "a tragic and perhaps fatal mistake" and that he hoped the bombing "will be further increased and expanded and that it will hasten the end of this unhappy war."

Then when the hearing was interrupted for luncheon, Senator Stennis said Admiral Sharp's testimony supported his contention. The admiral's testimony, Stennis said, "showed additional military targets that could be put on the eligible target list."

Sensors Stuart Symington, D-Mo., Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., Jack Miller, R-Iowa and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., then added their voices to that of Senator Stennis.

With the possible exception of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., all members of the subcommittee have consistently favored escalating the air and sea campaign against the North.

Sensor Symington said he wanted to see bombed the principal North Vietnamese airfield at Phuocyen, 15 miles northwest of Hanoi. Senator Jackson said Haiphong should be attacked and asserted that the bombing campaign was "a long way" from destroying major port, petroleum storage and electric power facilities in North Vietnam.

Senator Cannon argued that the Administration was "handicapping" the military by imposing restraints on the air and sea campaign and that "the war could be brought to an end much quicker if the restraints were taken off."

Sensor Miller also said he wanted to see the port of Haiphong attacked and Senator Thurmond asserted that "we should use our full air and sea power."

Although the senators declined to say what specific targets Admiral Sharp had advocated attacking and Sharp also refused to say what targets he had recommended.

Negroes Majority in New D.C. Council

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives yesterday decisively approved the Johnson Administration's sweeping plan to reorganize the District of Columbia government to make it more representative of the city's disenfranchised citizens, two-thirds of them Negroes.

The Senate, which has always strongly supported liberal municipal reforms here, is not required to act for the President's proposal to take effect. The only real obstacle was in the House.

The House vote yesterday to defeat a resolution that would have killed the first successful municipal reform here in 93 years of efforts to revise congressional rule of the country's ninth largest city was 244 to 160.

The vote means that Johnson's so-called district of Columbia reorganization plan—a parliamentary maneuver providing the structure, at least, of an elected city government—will become law automatically at the close of congressional business today.

It also means that Washington will have a new city council, a majority of whose members are expected to be Negroes.

The government reorganization procedure, admittedly an unusual parliamentary vehicle for such a purpose, was chosen by the White House this year to bypass the House Committee on the District of Columbia, a group long dominated by Southern and conservative members who have blocked all reform legislation.

Under the President's plan, the three-man District of Columbia Board of Commissioners will be abolished as soon as Johnson can nominate a new mayor, assistant mayor and a nine-member city council to replace them.

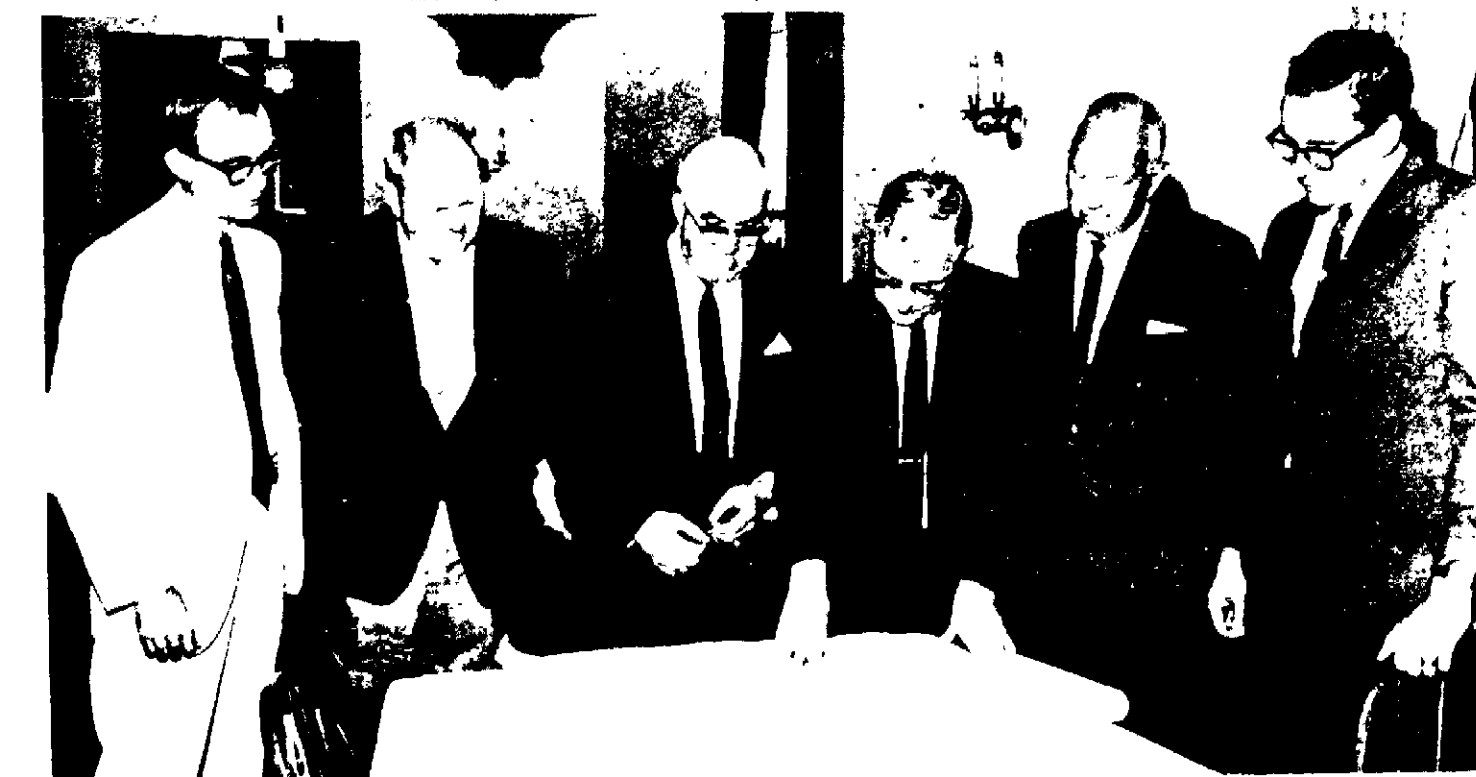

The new city officials will continue to be appointed rather than elected, as the three commissioners are, but members of the council will have a say in managing the city's affairs.

The White House said last June when Johnson submitted the reorganization plan to Congress, that council members would be "representative of the population" in Washington. Five of the nine council members and the assistant mayor are expected to be Negroes and at least three members of the council are required to be Republicans.

Greek Regime Holds 2,300 in Prisons

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The army-led Greek government reported yesterday that 2,300 leftist prisoners are held in the Aegean prison islands of Yioura and Leros.

A statement by the minister of public order, Paul Tatomis, who recently visited the islands said 4,300 had been released after signing declarations of loyalty to the regime.

License Plate

Confusion Said

Due to Inmates

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Philadelphia judge charged yesterday that state prison inmates are deliberately stamping wrong numbers on envelopes containing prison-made Pennsylvania motor automobile license plates.

Chief Magistrate John Patrick Walsh said he had discovered this during an investigation of complaints from motorists that they received summonses for parking violations in Philadelphia but had not been here on the day cited. Prisoners assigned to manufacture license plates put them in large brown envelopes on which they are supposed to stamp the number of the plate inside, Walsh said.

"I have information that the inmates of the correctional institutions are deliberately stamping numbers on the outside of the envelopes which do not correspond with the actual tag number inside the envelope in order to create confusion on the outside," he said.

Brothers Face Hearing on Girl's Slaying

GIRARD, Pa. (AP)—Two Erie County brothers were in jail yesterday awaiting a preliminary hearing on charges of murdering 12-year-old Connie Rae Carstater, whose partially nude body, bound with her own clothes, was found in swamp-land.

Jerry E. Bearce, 15, of Albion and his brother, Raymond Lee, 23, were arrested by state police Tuesday; then, after being arraigned, were remanded to the Erie County Jail without bond. They will face a hearing Aug. 15.

Police said they went to the brothers' house after receiving a tip that they had been seen near where Connie disappeared Sunday, and found evidence indicating that the two were involved in the slaying.

The Erie County coroner's office said that it appeared the girl died of asphyxiation, either due to drowning or suffocation.

Earthquake Shakes Denver

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The most severe earthquake ever recorded in Denver gave the city a good shaking-up yesterday and extended in a wide radius from the city.

But it caused no injuries and the most serious damage reported included broken plate glass windows at grocery stores, bottles knocked off shelves of a liquor store and bricks shaken from a chimney on a downtown building.

Two quick tremors came at 7:23 and 7:25 a.m. The first had an intensity of 5.25 on the Richter scale and the second 5.5, the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey reported.

The worst previous quake here was on April 10 which had a Richter scale rating of 5. Yesterday's quake was small potatoes compared to such death-dealing disasters as the one in Alaska in 1964 and recent quakes in South America and Turkey.

State Police Investigate 2 Local Mishaps

State police of the local station investigated two accidents yesterday afternoon which caused a total of $720 damage to the vehicles involved.

An accident occurred at 12:05 p.m. about two miles west of Warren on Green road involving two vehicles which police said caused an estimated $110 damage to each machine.

The accident occurred when a car operated by John W. Lachner, 24, of 342 River road, Warren, traveling south on Green road crashed into a vehicle operated by Howard Labowski, 23, of RD 1, Corry, as the Labowski machine was backing out of a parking lot, police said. No one was injured in the mishap, according to police.

Another accident occurred at 1:55 p.m. on Route 62 about eight tenths of a mile south of Russell, causing an estimated $500 damage to a tractor and trailer, police said. According to police, the tractor-trailer, operated by William R. Dinenny, 28, of Mitchell road, Jamestown, N.Y., blew a tire, turned completely around, and broke a brake hose, causing the truck to lose its brake fluid. The truck then struck a telephone pole, police said. No one was injured in the mishap according to police. The Russell Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene to flush the brake fluid from the highway after the mishap.

Borough Crashes Increase by 16

Accidents in the borough during the month of July soared as compared to the same period last year.

Police recorded 39 traffic mishaps with one fatality and 12 injured. Property damage totaled $22,572. In July of 1966 there were 23 accidents, seven injured and damage was listed at only $7,505.

Two mishaps last month involved pedestrians injured, nine operators, two passengers and one other. There were no accidents with bicycles.

Nine hit and run incidents were reported. Local drivers totaled 35 and the same number of operators involved were from out of town. Female drivers numbered 19 with 51 males.

Civil Rights Bills Passed

HARRISBURG (AP) — A package of six civil rights bills bearing strong bipartisan support was passed by the House yesterday and sent to the Senate.

One of the measures, approved 139-53, would extend the state's 1961 open housing law to cover the sale, but not the rental, of private homes.

AS ILLINOIS FAVORITE SON

Percy Considers Running

BY WARREN WEAVER JR.

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — Sen. Charles H. Percy is seriously considering seeking the role of "favorite son" candidate for the Republican presidential nomination from Illinois next year.

The senator's interest in such a possibility is the strongest evidence yet that he may become an active participant in the 1968 Republican competition to oppose President Johnson.

Republicans anxious to project Percy into a presidential campaign argue that the keystone of any such effort must be a demonstration of support for his candidacy in his home state of Illinois.

N.J. Governor Sued after House Searches

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union filed suit Wednesday against Gov. Richard J. Hughes and other state officials on behalf of 66 Negro residents of Plainfield whose homes were searched for stolen weapons during last month's racial rioting.

The suit filed in U.S. District Court charges that the searches were unconstitutional invasions of privacy and asks a total of $1,075,000 in damages.

It also seeks an injunction against further "illegal searches."

The search was conducted house - to - house in a Negro neighborhood by New Jersey state police and National Guardsmen July 19 after 48 carbines were stolen from ammunition factory in nearby Middlesex. The mass search was halted after one day when tensions built up over complaints that doors were broken down and belongings tossed about.

Two-Car Crash Causes Damages Of $1,000

A two-car mishap at Pennsylvania ave. and Union st. yesterday caused an estimated $1000 to the two vehicles involved, according to borough police.

The accident occurred at 1:45 p.m. when a car operated by Dan B. Enos, 20, of 436 Latrobe ave., Confluence, Pa., was struck by a vehicle operated by Kenneth G. Mellon, 27, of RD 1, Andover road, Conneaut Lake, Pa.

Police said the Enos vehicle was traveling east on Pennsylvania ave. Enos attempted a left turn on to Union st. when he was struck by the Mellon vehicle traveling west on Pennsylvania ave.

No one was injured in the mishap, police said.

"No matter how good Percy may look to the party next summer," one supporter said, "no one is going to swing over to him unless he's got his own state behind him. It's a sort of minimum eligibility requirement."

Whether Percy could persuade the Illinois delegation to nominate him as a favorite son remains in doubt now. The move would almost certainly require strong support from Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen, the Republican leader of the state as well as the Senate. Percy backers believe it would be in Dirksen's interest to support a favorite son movement in 1968 when he himself comes up for re-election. In their view, this makes it both inconsistent for him to attempt the favorite son role for himself and desirable to promote Republican unity in Illinois by backing Percy.

Dirksen reportedly has not told Percy or anyone else how he believes the Illinois delegation should proceed next year. His closest associates believe he will not commit himself to any presidential move until the overall picture is a good deal clearer.

Spain's Law on Freedom of Worship Blasted

(c) N.Y. Times News Service MADRID — Protestant ministers representing three denominations asserted yesterday that the law guaranteeing religious liberty in Spain, approved by the Cortes (parliament) last June, was unworkable. Some of them held that the law's effect was contrary to its stated intention.

At issue was the law's requirement that each of Spain's more than 100 Protestant churches solicit approval by the Ministry of Justice. Taking note of this, the Lutheran and Presbyterian clergy said that the "difficulties surrounding a lack of authentic religious liberty have not terminated — perhaps they have been made worse" by the law.

A Protestant church official predicted that all seven Protestant churches in Spain would oppose the requirement that they register with the government as "confessional associations."

The law stipulates that all non-Catholic clergymen must carry identity cards. This follows registration by the ministers with government authorities.

One of the new investigations prompted Maj. Gen. Clarence C. Schnipke of the Michigan National Guard to say:

"First we are criticized for not shooting enough and then we are criticized for shooting too much."

In another, Homicide Inspector Albert Schwaller said the FBI was looking into the death of John Leroy, 19, a Negro who was shot at a National Guard road block.

Schwaller said a report had been turned over to the Wayne County prosecutor's office, but there was no indication of whether charges would be made.

The FBI declined comment. In the third investigation, the Detroit News said witnesses told it they saw a policeman kill William N. Dalton, 19, a Negro, while 20 other officers and Guardsmen looked on.

The News quoted the witnesses as saying the policeman told the youth, apparently stopped for curfew violation, to run, then brought him down with one blast from a shotgun when he did.

"That one is still under investigation," Schwaller said.

Republican leader of the state as well as the Senate.

Percy backers believe it would be in Dirksen's interest to support a favorite son movement in 1968 when he himself comes up for re-election. In their view, this makes it both inconsistent for him to attempt the favorite son role for himself and desirable to promote Republican unity in Illinois by backing Percy.

Dirksen reportedly has not told Percy or anyone else how he believes the Illinois delegation should proceed next year. His closest associates believe he will not commit himself to any presidential move until the overall picture is a good deal clearer.

Since the Illinois primary does not take place until early June, Dirksen has plenty of time to mull over his decision.

Senate Defeats Bill On Arms Sales Ban

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — The Senate defeated yesterday, by a vote of 48 to 40, a move to impose a flat ban on the financing of armed sales to underdeveloped countries by the Export-Import Bank.

The showdown on the issue, which has stirred controversy in both houses of Congress for the past month, came on an amendment to a bill which would extend the life of the bank for five years and expand its lending authority from $9 billion to $13.5 billion.

The amendment, offered by Allen J. Ellender, D-La., would have prohibited the bank from making, or guaranteeing, loans to "any less developed country" for the purchase of arms.

The administration vigorously opposed the Ellender amendment, and high officials of the departments of State and Defense have spent much time on Capitol Hill in recent days urging its defeat.

Council Okays Jamestown Traffic Panel

JAMESTOWN, N.Y.—Jamestown City Council yesterday unanimously voted to approve the establishment of a seven-member traffic and parking advisory commission for the city.

The commission will function in an advisory capacity and investigate and recommend solutions for all problems related to traffic and parking.

The enactment will not become effective until signed by Mayor Fred H. Dunn who is required to hold a public hearing first.

The date of the hearing was set for 7:15 p.m. August 22nd. The new measure provides that the responsibility of all matters which have to do with the parking and traffic program be shifted from the police department to the department of public works.

The new commission will consist of the director of public works, the police chief, chairman of the city planning commission, a member of the city council, and two citizens to be appointed by the mayor.

Dirksen Says Riot Bill "Humdinger"

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (AP) — Picking up where House counterparts left off, a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition in the Senate spearheaded a drive yesterday for quick action on tough new laws to curb city rioting.

Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois predicted a news conference that the Senate will sustain House action stripping the attorney general of direction of the anticrime program and turning enforcement over to the states.

Beyond that, Dirksen said he expects to work with Southern Democratic allies specifically Sens. John L. McClellan of Arkansas and James O. Eastland of Mississippi—to "tighten up" the House-passed measure.

Dirksen said the bill "will be a humdinger before we get through with it." He avoided details, but said he thinks that when the measure comes out of the Senate Judiciary Committee it will provide for "strict, sharp enforcement" of police powers in civil disturbances of the type that have rocked the country this summer.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana referred newsmen to Dirksen when asked for reaction to the House measure. Mansfield said as soon as the Judiciary Committee, headed by Eastland, reports out a bill he will schedule Senate action on it.

McClellan, who has conducted investigations of organized crime, is expected to come up with new enforcement provisions in that field as well as riot-curbing proposals.

Dirksen said he has consulted with Eastland, McClellan and Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., about combining the measure with the antiriot bill previously passed by the House. The latter legislation would make it a federal crime to cross a state line to incite or participate in a riot.

The Republican leader said he is confident the Senate will uphold House action revising President Johnson's proposals for operation of the anticrime program through federal grants funneled by the attorney general into cities, states, and other agencies.

U.S. Troops Dropped On N. Viet Fortress

(c) N.Y. Times News Service SAIGON—First Air Cavalry Division troops were dropped by helicopter on top of a North Vietnamese fortified tunnel stronghold in the central coastal mountains yesterday. The attack touched off a major battle in which 10 U.S. soldiers were reported killed.

A spokesman for the division said two helicopters were shot down and three others shot up so badly that they were out of commission after flying to safe landings.

The action began yesterday morning when a company of First Cavalry troops, following up air reconnaissance indications of an enemy stronghold, dropped on the site by helicopter.

The spokesman said the Americans were hit with a crossfire of small arms and machine-gun fire, recoilless rifle fire and mortars. A second company and a platoon of Vietnamese irregular troops in the area were also sent in by helicopter to join the battle.

The spokesman said it was estimated that two companies of North Vietnamese troops were in the tunnels and bunkers surrounding an open area in the Songre Valley, 25 miles west of Ducpho on the coast south of Danang.

The spot was described as a hardcore Communist area which had never been entered by American force. The spokesman said it was estimated 40 North Vietnamese were killed, although only two enemy bodies had been found.

The helicopters were met by a hail of fire from numerous 12-7-mm antiaircraft gun positions, the spokesman said. Air strikes and armed helicopters were called in and reportedly destroyed seven of the machine gun positions and damaged five.

Five of the 10 American dead were reported killed when one of the helicopters was shot down. The spokesman said 24 Americans were wounded, two of them in helicopters.

Mercer Youth Charged With Mother's Murder

MERCER, Pa. (AP)—A widow was stabbed to death in the basement of her home yesterday. Police charged her young son with murder.

James Hanna, 16, was arraigned before Mercer Justice of the Peace Donald Buckel on a general charge of murder and placed in the Mercer County Jail without bail.

The body of his mother, Ruth Maria, 36, was found in the basement of the family's home in nearby Leesburg. Officers refused to disclose further details.

11 Negroes Elected In Mississippi

(c) N.Y. Times News Service JACKSON, Miss. — Mississippi's Democratic primary election put at least 11 Negroes into local office and promised a bruising three-week runoff campaign between two gubernatorial contenders, the returns showed yesterday.

The 11 Negroes were named to posts of county supervisor, justice of the peace and constable in four counties. The victories in Tuesday's primary were tantamount to election, since the Negroes face no opposition in the general election.

At least 10 other Negroes won places in the Aug. 29 runoff vote, two of them in races for sheriff. The outcome in about 25 other local campaigns involving Negroes was still unavailable yesterday.

The available results, however, signaled the collapse of Mississippi's almost solidly white government. Only one Negro, elected to a county board of education last November, now holds public office in the state.

The runoff struggle for the gubernatorial nomination is expected to provide an important statewide test of public sentiment in Mississippi, a state long noted for its sometimes violent resistance to change.

State Treasurer William Winter, a moderate who led Tuesday's vote, will face representative John Bell Williams, a dedicated ultra-conservative, who lost his congressional seniority for supporting Barry Goldwater in 1964.

Former Gov. Ross R. Barnett, who rose to national prominence in the crisis surrounding desegregation of the University of Mississippi in 1962, ran a surprising fourth in the primary.

Liquor Committee To Hold Hearings

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Governor's Liquor Code Advisory Committee decided at its first meeting yesterday to conduct a broad inquiry into the state monopoly liquor system including public hearings across the state.

Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett, chairman, said after the meeting that the committee would review the state liquor code and also consider a proposal to abolish state stores and replace them with private ones.

He said that the liquor code, which was written in 1933, "needs a thorough revision and overhaul."

Several critics of the state's present system of selling liquor only through state stores have said that private stores would make more of a profit and serve the public better.

Sennett said that if "it can be shown that private stores would be more profitable, we would certainly consider them."

Shafer Says New Policies Save $8 Million

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New administration policies are expected to save Pennsylvania taxpayers more than $8 million a year, Gov. Shafer said yesterday.

The governor, speaking at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Association of County Commissioners, listed six steps through which the anticipated savings have been made:

—A job freeze and abolishment of long-term vacancies, $6 million.

—A new drug-buying system in the Public Welfare Department, $1 million.

—A proposed merger of the departments of Health and Public Welfare into a new Department of Human Services, $600,000.

—A new buying technique for paint mix in the Highways Department, $400,000.

—A lease-back arrangement on data-processing equipment, $237,000.

—Re-use of state-owned cars, $150,000.

Liquor Referendum Is Before Senate

By PAUL ZDINAK HARRISBURG (AP) — Counties would have the right to hold referendums for restricted Sunday liquor sales under a bill released yesterday by the Senate Judiciary General Committee.

To be eligible, the food sales of the hotel, restaurant, club or similar establishment must constitute at least 30 per cent of their gross sales.

Liquor or beer could be sold from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. on a Sunday. At the moment, only hotels in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia may sell liquor on Sundays.

The measure was just introduced Monday by Sens. Arthur A. Piasceli, R-Lackawanna, and Martin L. Murray, D-Luzerne.

In order to get the issue on the ballot, a petition must be signed by voters equal in number to 25 per cent of the highest vote cast for any office in that particular county.

The same committee also sent to the floor two bills designed to cut down on violence in rioting.

One bill would establish a $500 fine or one-year jail term for anyone hindering firemen.

The other measure would outlaw "Molotov Cocktails" — bottles filled with gasoline and then ignited by use of a paper or cloth wick.

The bill technically would prohibit the possession of gasoline in glass containers. The penalty would be $500 — reduced by the committee from $1,000 — or one year in jail. In other Senate action, Sen. Louis G. Hill, D-Philadelphia, introduced a bill to appropriate $1 million to the State Health Department for rat control programs.

The money would be distributed as grants in aid to political subdivisions.

Programs would include extermination measures and improvement of refuse and garbage collections.

Sen. Henry J. Clamfrank, D-Philadelphia, sponsored a bill to earmark $500,000 to the Community Affairs Department to assist Philadelphia in the removal and disposal of abandoned autos.

DeGaulle to Speak on Major French Policies

(c) N.Y. Times News Service PARIS — The French cabinet gave final approval yesterday to major measures in General de Gaulle's social program and then heard him outline what he would tell the nation in a television speech tonight.

The government's spokesman would say only that the president "will speak of the general objectives of French policy."

This appeared to confirm reports current here that de Gaulle would talk not only about his social program but also, at least generally, about the Middle East and Canada — all issues that have stirred lively dissent.

The cabinet gave assent to the following measures:

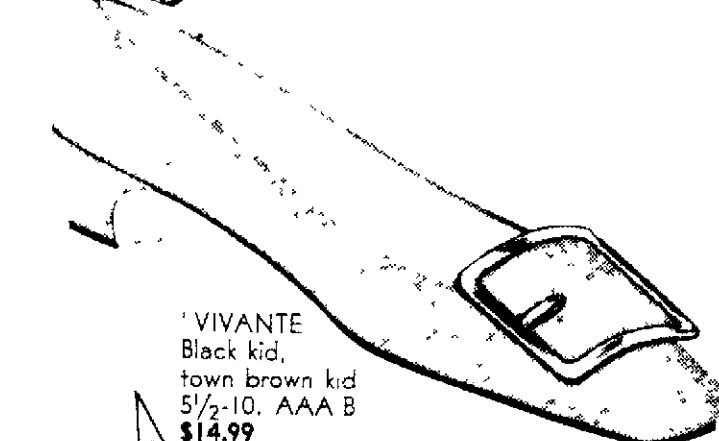

— A set of decree-laws requiring all companies with 100 workers or more to share excess profits with their workers, the funds to be reinvested in business.

— Reform of the social security apparatus to combat a huge and growing deficit; payroll taxes will rise and medical benefits decline. An opinion poll announced last night found that a majority of the French did not understand the social security measures and were indifferent about the profit-sharing program.

Need For a Wise Selection

Today the Republicans and tomorrow the Democrats--conferees of the 25th Senatorial District--will gather in Warren to consider candidates for election to the state constitutional convention which will convene at noon on December 1st.

There is no question the delegates to this convention must be capable and knowledgeable people and we urge both parties to nominate men and women of stature and dedication for the office of delegate.

The images of both parties could be enhanced and their tickets strengthened if their slates for the November election are headed by delegate candidates of high calibre.

Also, a three-month undertaking of this kind with a nominal "salary" could be attractive to people of prestige in the community who would like to serve their state but could not consider a two or four-year term or who would not ordinarily care to be involved in "politics."

The convention will deal with sensitive and difficult subjects, so we urge the political parties concerned to select delegates who can afford to be statesmen.

Candidates for delegate to the convention must be 21 years of age and have been a citizen of the state for at least four years. They shall have resided in and been a registered voter in their respective senatorial district for one year before their election, and shall reside in their respective senatorial district during their term of service.

Candidates must gain the backing of their party's county committee in order to be one of the two candidates they may nominate for delegates.

Candidates may also be nominated by a political body by petition in the form prescribed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth and signed by at least five hundred qualified voters of the senatorial district.

No nominating papers need be circulated if selection is by the county committee.

Vietnam And the Negroes

There is a shift in the making—a shift in public opinion on the question of Vietnam, and in a strange way it relates to the Negro problem, or rather is being made to relate to the Negro problem. There are signs everywhere, and from very important people.

The most significant, in my judgment, is the recent declaration of Bishop Fulton J. Sheen that we should unilaterally pull out of Vietnam. Bishop Sheen is neither senile or loose-minded. His anti-Communism is unalloyed, and his knowledge of the strategic realities is unsentimental. I put off for another day an analysis of the Bishop's reasoning—for the present purposes it is significant to note merely that he has taken that position, and that he is an enormously influential priest.

Moreover, a priest who is grimly engaged at the moment as Bishop of Rochester, in attempting a substantive reconciliation between the Negro and white people in that tense city. Notwithstanding his great urbanity and learning, he is at heart an evangelist—and he is asking for nothing less than reconciliation, between white and Negro; but also between white and yellow.

At this point, the mind sets out doggedly in search of a nexus. Is there one between the Negro problem and the Vietnam war? The effort is being made to find one, and we can trust to the ingenuity of the politician to discover one.

During the weekend, Senator Robert Kennedy went on a paralogistic spree. The occasion was a Democratic fund-raising dinner in San Francisco, the immediate purpose of which was to show the great big biceps of Speaker Jesse Unruh, who was recently worsted at the O.K. Corral by the deft gunmanship of Ronald Reagan. Senator Kennedy got his usual running ovation. But it was interrupted by a special ovation when he called on the American people to note the "monstrous disproportion of anyone willing to spend billions for the freedom of others while denying it to our own people."

That is one of those political effusions which are the highest testimony to the moral and intellectual emptiness of the political idiom. The costliest riot in United States history took place a few weeks ago in Detroit, whose Democratic mayor, a longtime hero of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, can hardly be said to have conspired against the freedom of the Negro people. But the Senator was just warming up: "We cannot allow involvement in the name of independence and democracy in Vietnam to interfere with democracy for our own people."

Another burst of applause, more testimony to non-thought. Who is asking that democracy for the Negroes be put off until the end of the Vietnam war? Lyndon Johnson? Ronald Reagan? Abigail Van Buren?

And then the old blackmail: "We must reject the counsel of those willing to pass laws against violence while refusing to eliminate rats." It's sentences like that one that discredit the democratic process. Sentences like that one plus the applause they receive.

But the outline emerges. Somehow, our commitment in Vietnam is the cause of the riots in the United States. Get it? Remember it: the one-two will be very prominent in the rhetoric to come. There is to begin with the sick-at-heartness over the Vietnam war of which Bishop Sheen's manifesto is the expression. Then there is the dazed American attitude towards the riots. . . why? why? There are politicians around who think they can supply a viable answer.

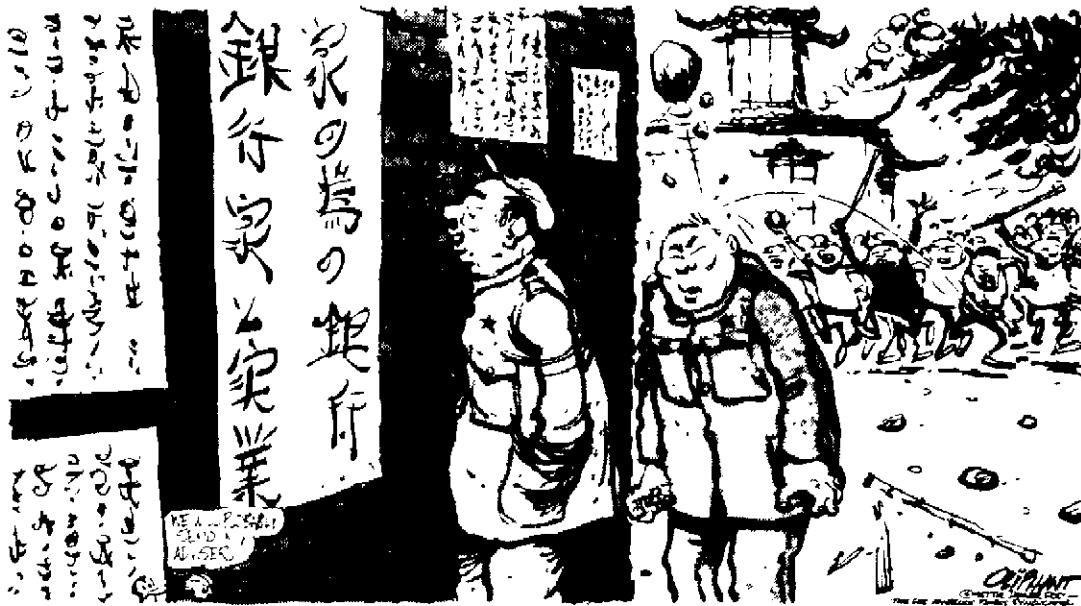

cool Congress, cool the anti-white Negroes, cool the anti-Negro whites. At a far more dangerous moment, at the height of the bank panic in 1933, Franklin Roosevelt had to speak out against fear ("the only thing we have to fear is fear itself") before he could speak out for concrete antidepressant measures. Every new law, every new action, yes, every inaction too, must today be measured against what it does to prevent or spread the polarizing of hates. If we can arrest the polarizing drive, then we can win time to build common action on common ground between the races.

The hate carriers don't want common action which would integrate and unite the races because they don't believe there is any common ground. Long ago Georges Sorel, the founder of revolutionary syndicalism, pointed out the role of violence in a revolutionary situation. What it amounts to is this: When you know you don't yet have the people on your side, you must use violence in order to provoke a greater violence from your enemy—and that violence in turn will bring the people over to your side. This is the deliberate use of violence to polarize hatreds. Hence the fire-setters and the snipers.

The answer must come from the black people themselves. When a riot breaks out, and the large majority of blacks decide they will no longer serve as protective hosts for the incendiaries and snipers, the violence phase will be over. If only we could get the Vietnam war over too, and the crippling tax burdens, then the nation—white and black alike—could turn to the real business of finding and carrying out solutions for its inner ills.

Attempts to introduce the stork into England have failed although it thrives on the continent. The great white birds cannot survive the English winter. Nor will they attempt to fly across the turbulent English Channel to migrate southward.

Protects CATV Industry

WASHINGTON—Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., has one of the highest bile counts on Capitol Hill, and his dour expression gives authority to his image as the Senate's chief investigator. With a terrible wrath, he has become the scourge of labor racketeers, gambling operators and vice lords—except those who had the foresight to conduct their business in his native Hot Springs, Ark.

While McClellan has been crusading against crime and labor, however, he has scrupulously avoided any investigations that might embarrass big business. Indeed, he has been the intrepid champion of the banks, oil companies and other special interests.

Occasionally he has turned up with financial investments in some of these same institutions.

His latest maneuver, which he has conducted in the back rooms rather than the hearing rooms of Congress, is to seek an unprecedented, 18-month moratorium on copyright lawsuits against the CATV industry.

CATV companies bring network television programs into areas which might not otherwise be able to pick them up. This is done by trapping television signals from distant cities and piping them into homes for a subscription fee. Performers and writers whose works are being pirated have started to make noises about suing the CATV companies for royalties.

To head off the threatened suits, the CATV attorneys drafted a bill which would bar copyright suits until Jan. 1, 1969. A draft of the bill, entitled "Temporary Suspension of Judicial Remedies," was slipped to McClellan, who promised to introduce it.

As chairman of the Judiciary Subcommittee on Patents, Trademarks and Copyrights, he is in a unique position to steer the bill through the Senate. He has already served notice on colleagues that he is a friend of the CATV industry.

"I will oppose anything I think will destroy CATV," he has said. He has neglected to mention to his colleagues, however, that he holds valuable stock in one of the CATV giants—Midwest Video, which has outlets in Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, South Dakota and Texas. His late son and son-in-law were also among the early stockholders.

Probably nothing can get McClellan out of his Senate chair faster, however, than a challenge to the banks. He has bitterly opposed the chartering of new national banks, which would give the old-line banks some competition.

When a group attempted to establish a new bank in West Memphis, Ark., 11 years ago, he helped the existing West Memphis Bank to block it. He put B. J. Lambert, the bank president, in touch with then Comptroller of the Currency Ray Gidney, who was in charge of issuing bank charters. None was issued to the new bank.

Ten years later, McClellan attempted to block another group from chartering a bank in West Memphis, and also opposed the establishment of a new national bank in Little Rock. He forwarded letters to the then Comptroller James Saxon, opposing both charters.

But Saxon happened to favor more bank competition. Enraged, McClellan held hearings into the failures of three newly chartered banks and used these unusual cases to discredit all new charters.

He also appeared before the American Bankers Association convention to charge that "too many national banks are being unwisely chartered too fast and too freely."

As he explained his views at a press conference, observers spotted among the reporters now other than B. J. Lambert, the West Memphis Bank president.

In all his fire-and-brimstone attacks on new charters, McClellan never mentioned that he was a stockholder in both the West Memphis Bank and the First National Bank of Little Rock, the two old-line banks fighting the charters. Indeed, McClellan is listed as one of the top 20 stockholders in First National.

It is also worth recalling how McClellan handled the great investigation into oil lobbying a few years ago. This was precipitated by a $2,500 bribe which bled from Superior Oil, tried to hand to the late Sen. Frances Case, R-S, D., in a brown paper sack.

The Senator exposed the clumsy bribe attempt, and Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., announced his Elections Subcommittee would investigate. Lyndon Johnson, then the Senate Majority Leader, kept after Gore for 10 days to relinquish jurisdiction to another less hostile committee.

LBJ finally succeeded in maneuvering the probe into McClellan's hands. This relentless investigator, who usually strikes terror in the hearts of wrongdoers hauled before his committee, treated the oil industry almost tenderly. The investigation dribbled along unspectacularly, then faded away without going beyond the Case incident. No one was embarrassed except those whom Case had already fingered.

What the public never knew was that McClellan's law firm in Little Rock then represented Standard Oil of New Jersey, Seaboard Oil, Tidewater Associated Oil, and Carter Oil.

Perhaps it's time someone investigated the investigator.

SYLVIA PORTER

Your Spending Pattern vs. 1929

It's not news that we're spending tens of billions of dollars today to buy "recreation" in the form of all-time high totals of books, magazines and newspapers, of tickets to sports events, the theatre and movies. But would you believe that the share of each of our consumer dollars going to recreation is only 6.1 cents—only 1/16 cent more than it was a full generation ago in 1929? Would you believe that although the book industry has been in a fabulous boom and we're spending billions of dollars a year on books alone, the share of our dollar going to books has crept up only 1/10 of 1 cent since 1929 to 1/2 cent?

This disclosure surely comes as a shocker. But the explanation is simple: We're spending so many more billions on recreation because we have so many more billions of dollars to spend. Overall, though, the share we devote to recreation hasn't changed nearly as much as we have been led to think. Could it be that we need to redefine our definition of "recreation"?

It's not news that we are spending soaring amounts of our consumer dollars on financing our children's education. Just how much our spending is soaring will be all over the front pages next month. But would you believe that the share of our dollar going to private education is a mere 1.3 cents—against 9/10 of 1 cent way back in 1929, when the college-educated American was still unusual?

Again, the explanation is that we're spending so many more billions out of a much larger total of billions to spend. Still the 1.3 cents share surprises me—particularly against the 3 cents of each dollar we spend for alcoholic beverages and the 2 cents we spend for tobacco. . .

In a recent analysis of the changing economic profile of America, the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York submitted a tabulation showing the shifting patterns of consumer spending since 1929. All the statistics are startling, but most can be easily explained. For instance, we're spending a smaller share of our dollar for food because our average real incomes have climbed sharply and higher income families logically do not spend as large a share for food as lower-income families. We're spending a bigger share of our dollar for household operations because we now own a record total of homes and we are constantly adding new and expensive appliances and services to our homes. We're spending a smaller share of our dollar for local public transportation because of the deterioration in this type of service and the upsurge in our spending for private new and used cars. This is interesting stuff—but obvious. Tucked within the major statistics are minor statistics, however, which are much more provocative. For instance: Dining Out: The share of our dollar going to this has risen from 3.8 cents in 1929 to 4.6 cents. This reflects the increasing popularity of eating out, of course—but the question that nags me is how to tie this into "recreation." Wouldn't you agree that for many families the nation over "dining out" is a major form of recreation?

Telephone: The share for this has jumped from 7/10 of 1 cent to 1.5 cents since 1929. Since we know that the cost per unit of service is way down, the explanation must be the vast expansion in the use of the telephone, particularly in this era of the talking teenager.

Cleaning and laundering: This share is down from 1.2 cents to 9/10 of 1 cent. We are wearing more casual clothes which can be washed. We also are the owners of record totals of washing machines—and so the cost of washing the casual clothes disappears into the category of household appliances (up from 1 cent to 1.4 cents).

Foreign travel: At 7/10 of 1 cent in 1929 and at 7/10 of 1 cent now—and this in the face of the fact that the U.S. tourist is on the greatest foreign travel spree ever. The answer must be that the share is being held down by the rapidly shrinking cost of foreign travel since the days of the luxury liner.

Domestic service: Down from 2.2 cents of each dollar in 1929 to 9/10 of 1 cent. We're spending more billions on an ever-widening proportion of workers. This industry will come back only when the domestic worker's standards and status are significantly upgraded.

These are my guesses. Have you any others to explain why you spend how much on what?

MASON DENISON

Another Head Thumper

HARRISBURG — Governor Shafer ultimately may indeed be able to round up enough legislative troops within his own (dim) party ranks on Capitol Hill to clear his basic budgetary requests for the current fiscal year — but even when he skins this headcheese he still faces another and perhaps more formidable head-thumper.

This is in the area of the so-called non-preferred appropriations covering charitable institutions, colleges, universities and the like receiving state financial aid.

In the Governor's budgetary request for the current 1967-68 fiscal year (no more than a month old) there is this non-preferred item total: some $157½ million.

The "hitch" on these non-preferred appropriations revolves around the fact that they require two-thirds approval of both the Senate and the House of Representatives as opposed to the constitutional majority required for items in the general appropriations bill covering routine operations of state government.

Some idea of the problem faced by the Republican Shafer Administration on this non-preferred appropriations front can be seen from the fact that in the House of Representatives Republicans have only 103 seats under their listing, with 102 votes needed for a constitutional majority to pass general appropriation bills (and the as yet unresolved tax problem).

This means that in the case of the House 136 votes are required for clearance of the non-preferred appropriation bills — which of course the Shafer Administration doesn't begin to have.

Where then must the votes come from? There is no other corral than the corral of the donkey riders!

Affairs are in a bit worse shape in the Senate where Republicans maintain only 26 seats — the exact number needed for simple passage of a bill, or of items in the general appropriations bill.

This of course leaves no room to spare whatsoever on the GOP side in the Senate even on those items requiring just a majority — to say nothing of the two-thirds requirement for non-preferred appropriation measures where they've got to round up 34 votes!

As matters stand at the moment (and as they have for many "moments" in the past) the administration can't even round up enough support within its own membership to clear fiscal measures that don't even fall within the non-preferred group.

You say the Legislature wouldn't dare not clear the non-preferred appropriations for such institutions as Penn State, Temple or Pitt?

Go back four years to 1963 during the first year of the preceding (Republican) Scranton Administration and look what happened.

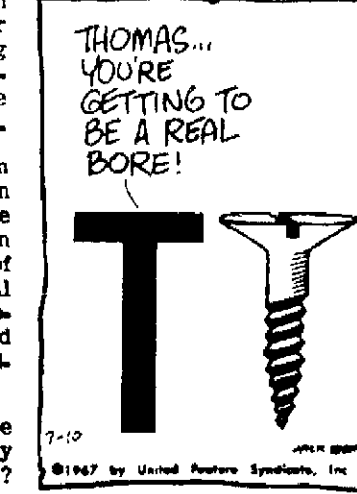

That year (as this year) the Republican administration didn't have the votes on its own to clear the non-preferreds. Anti-administration Democrats refused to supply the necessary support, with the result that the Legislature on August 1 that year threw in the sponge and adjourned finally without clearing the $72,000,000 in non-preferred appropriations — leaving those institutions and facilities dependent upon this state aid high and dry!

Mr. Scranton subsequently called a special session later in the year however, at which time the item was belatedly taken care of.

This then is something serious Mr. Shafer faces even though he gets his basic fiscal program through legislative channels, a move requiring only majority approval of the House of Representatives and Senate.

Anti-administration Democrats can throw him a key block on the non-preferreds for haughtily ignoring them — just as they did four years ago when tensions weren't quite as tight as they are at present!

ART BUCHWALD

Smashing Tailors of Beersheba

EDITOR'S NOTE: (Art Buchwald wrote this story some years ago. There could be more truth to it than meets the eye.)

WASHINGTON — There has been a great deal of excitement in the United States and Israel over suspicions that Israel might be working on the development of an atomic bomb. United States State Department officials are reportedly furious at the Israelis, because when they built their atomic energy plant 20 miles outside of Beersheba, they told the United States it was a textile plant. The United States was kept in the dark until recently, when CIA photographs revealed that the building wasn't what it was cracked up to be.

It was just by chance that the Americans didn't find out the secret six months ago.

It seems that an important American diplomat stationed in Israel needed a new suit. Since someone told him about the new textile plant, he decided to go out there to see if he could possibly get one wholesale.

As he drove south toward Beersheba, Israeli intelligence agents were alerted and a half-hour before he arrived the head of the atomic energy plant was notified that an American was coming to buy a suit.

A hurried conference was called with the other scientists to decide what to do. They were afraid that if they refused him entrance he might get suspicious and start prying into the plant. So the scientists agreed the only sensible thing to do was to let the diplomat in and pretend that nothing was going on.

The scientists removed their white smocks, rolled up their sleeves and stuck pins and needles in their vests. When the American diplomat arrived, he was immediately ushered into a large room where he saw men cutting suit forms out of asbestos patterns. The head of the plant greeted the diplomat. "What can I do for you, sir?" he asked.

"I was wondering if I could buy a suit wholesale."

The head of the plant said, "Perhaps you would like something in cobalt blue? Or maybe a nice uranium brown? How about a cosmic gray double-breasted, with pin-striped particles? It's the latest thing."

"No," said the diplomat. "I don't want anything flashy. I wouldn't have a light gray flannel?"

"Perhaps," the head of the plant replied. "Please, let us take your measurements. Just go into the fitting room behind that six-foot wall of lead and take off your clothes."

The diplomat went in. "These fitting rooms are very well protected," he said. The head of the plant smiled.

"Our customers like privacy, and there's so much activity around here that we don't like things to pile up. Just a minute while I call the fitter, Shimshon, would you please come in with the measuring instruments."

One of the scientists rushed in with a geiger counter, a slide rule and two robot arms. The head of the plant took a pad and said, "Shimshon, call off the customer's measurements."

Shimshon yelled out, "Ten, nine, eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, one, Q!"

"Enough with the jokes, Shimshon," the supervisor said angrily. "Let's have some measurements."

"What about the lapels?" the diplomat wanted to know.

"Don't worry," Shimshon said. "We'll smash them down if they're too large."

Shimshon measured the pants and then the diplomat put on his clothes again.

"All right," the diplomat said. "Can I charge it?"

"Negative or positive?" the head of the plant wanted to know.

"I don't care," the diplomat said. "When should I come for my next fitting?"

The head of the plant said, "Why should you, an important man, drive to Beersheba again? Our tailor from our retail store in Tel Aviv will call on you. But please, kind sir, DO NOT tell your friends about us because we have too much work now, and if we take any more orders the plant will explode."

MAX LERNER

The Answer: Polarizing

(Substituting for Joseph Alsop) BY MAX LERNER

We may not know what will heal the tensions between blacks and whites in the American cities, but we know what makes them worse. The answer is: polarizing. It is what happens when the choices on the contesting sides get narrowed, and you are pushed relentlessly to one pole or another. Hate black or hate white—both are all-out polar positions. Total hostility to the whites, total repression of the blacks: these attitudes are forms of each other. There are still very few on either side who hold these extreme positions, but there are a number of forces at work which are pushing in that direction. The real danger point comes when the polarizing forces on both sides, feeding on the violence, take on momentum and drown out any moderating voices.

At that point only the voices of extremism have any chance of prevailing: "Whoever is not with us is against us." "Whoever doesn't hate Whitey to the death is an Uncle Tom and stands with Whitey." "To Hell with urban renewal, and earn-and-learn retraining programs, and government-and-business partnership slum projects. The only solutions are at the end of a policeman's club and a National Guard gun." This is what polarizing drives toward. At one pole there is no stopping point except unceasing guerrilla war, with every Negro area bent on getting into the act. At the other pole there is no stopping point short of apartheid.

I have been taking part, here at Washington, in a conference of urban project workers and officials. They don't believe in diabolism as an explanation of what has happened—the theory that some devil has entered the blacks and needs to be exorcised by force. Nor do they believe in the money theory—that if you will only pour out enough money into the Negro ghetto, all will be well. I found instead a determined experimental drive: toward action, not inaction; but toward action that will have some meaning, rather than a blind emotion-laden reactive action.

Unfortunately the mood of Congress is a grim no-nonsense mood. "We have heard enough," they say, "from the long-hairs, the psychiatrists, the professors, the welfareists, the do-gooders. Now let's have some action and pass some laws." The first law is to crack down on men like Carmichael and Rap Brown, to keep them from crossing state lines to stir up hatred of whites. But alas, it is much easier to keep men from crossing state lines than to keep ideas and hate-laden pronouncements from flaming across the nation, community to community, TV, the picture magazines, the radio, the press—all of them carry the incendiary idea much faster than men can. The medium is the messenger. And you can't suppress the medium.

No, we can't improve on the idea of persistent, experimental reflective action. President Johnson is trying hard to

There were 23 major administration sponsored bills styled in the Legislature as of the beginning of this week.

Only four measures have passed and been signed since the sessions convened. These approved the Constitutional Con-

Final passage has been accorded constitutional amendments but the bill has not been signed into law by the governor.

HARRISBURG (AP)—With an eye to possible racial trouble in the state, Gov. Shafer issued a last-minute order yesterday cancelling plans to send the Pennsylvania National Guard to Virginia for summer training. Shafer directed Adj. Gen. Thomas R. White Jr. to switch the two-week training period set to begin Saturday to the Indian Gap Military Reservation, 20 miles from here.

The encampment originally was scheduled for Camps A. P. Hill and Pickett in Virginia. Several detachments had sent advance parties there to prepare for arrival of the main body.

An aide to the governor in issuing the announcement emphasized that the action in no way signified any feeling that "an outbreak of violence is imminent."

The action came at a time when many urban centers have been beset by racial disorders. Some of them have involved calling out the National Guard or federal troops to maintain order.

The governor's office said that President Johnson had been

($60), Penn-Sure insurance plan
Department of Human Services, mid-atlantic air pollution and auto insurance cancellation.

Three bills have passed in the senate but are either on the floor of the House or remain in committee including the Governor's transportation committee and industrial development bonds.

Three others are on the floor of the senate; the $500 million conservation fund, the Pennsylvania Transportation Authority and two bills for mass transit assistance.

On the assembly floor are two bills; Fair Housing and Fair employment.

The announcement was issued at a time when both the governor and Gen. White were in Philadelphia on separate missions.

A conference was scheduled later in the day between Gen. White and Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett. The attorney general declined to discuss what the meeting was about but he said the appointment had been scheduled prior to the announcement about the National Guard.

The mere logistics of making the switch was viewed as monumental in the minds of some military observers here.

The order was believed to involve something like 10,000 troops. The arrangements for feeding and accommodating them at the Virginia camps already were under way. In making the switch, presumably preparations would have to start from scratch at Indiantown Gap.

the Army in the Defense Department specifies the training sites and makes the arrangements for summer training of National Guard units.

Under the new Selected Reserve setup, many of the Pennsylvania units are lumped with selected units of Maryland and Ohio to comprise the 28th Division of the First Army

Under the original plans, this group was to have trained as an integrated unit for the first time this summer.

Kudlock and Matlak Pace Beverage over Koehler's

ERIE — Warren Beverage struck for seven runs in the second inning and coasted to a 10-1 triumph over Koehler's Beer behind Rich Matlak's two-hitter in Glenwood Baseball League action last night at Bayview Field.

A grand slam homer by Steve Kudlock highlighted the Beverage's rally in the second after Koehler's had taken a 1-0 lead in the opening frame. The "Austin Flash" also bombed a round-tripper in the fifth, this one a two-run shot, to account for six of the 10 Beverage tallies.

The victory lifted Beverage to an 8-2 record in second half action, a full game behind league-leading Ferraro Ford and percentage points ahead of third place Security - Peoples Trust.

The Beermen nipped Matlak, who threw a no-no against them his last time out, for just two singles. The first came in the opening frame off the bat of John Izzi and drove John Coffey home with the lone Koehler run.

City League Primed For Showdown Tilt

Warren Beverage rallied for two runs in the seventh last night to nip Warren Auto Clinic 2-1 in the nightcap of a City Softball League doubleheader at Carbon Memorial Field.

Nichols Service Center tripped Sons of Italy in the opener, 3-1 to set up a showdown between the Servicemen and Beverage tonight for first place in the loop.

Beverage had been unable to score on Auto Clinic hurler Ken Sorensen until the final frame. They had left two men stranded in both the first and fifth innings, and Sorensen had pitched out of a bases-loaded situation in the fourth.

Sweeties Upset By Russell in Girls Softball

With Russell Rovers playing the part of spoilers and the Irvine Indians out for the league title, North Area Girls Softball League saw plenty of action last night.

The Sugar Grove Sweethearts were downed by Russell 6-3. The Sweethearts carried an 8-0 slate as they went into action last night. The Rovers job was to be spoilers and they succeeded. JoAnn Olsen hurled the win for Russell and Norma Sweeney was charged with the loss. The game was close, with Sugar Grove taking an early lead of 3-0. In the fourth inning Russell moved ahead and outlasted Sugar Grove to the end. Doubles were snagged for the Sweethearts by Linda York, Nancy Wilcox, Sandy Gruber and Marty Trumbull. Russell now has a 7-0 mark.

Elsewhere, the Irvine Indians triumphed over the Akeley Angels 20-16. Kathy Tydus picked up a win for the Indians and "Nina" Swanson, suffered another loss for Akeley. Doubles were cracked for the Indians by Tydus, Sandy Kibbey and Pam Huley. Darlene Carlson and Doreen Nobles bombed doubles for Akeley to close out the night. The Indians carry a 7-2 slate.

A game between the Chandlers Valley Charmers and the Lander Lassies was cancelled because of dampness.

Hot Stove Results

Speidel-Lesser Wins
Speidel-Lesser posted a win of 5-3 over Carson Finance last night. The game was a previous rain-out and brought Speidel-Lesser's slate to an 11-3 finish for the season. Mark Zawacki hurled the win and Tom Gay was tagged for the loss. John Wolfe snagged a double for Speidel-Lesser and Tom Gay clubbed a double for Carson to round out the night.

Times Square One Up
Times Square Service is now one up in playoff action for the Cadet's as they downed Nelson & Ellberg 9-8 last night at Memorial Field. Corky Reynolds hurled the win for Times Square and Ron California was charged with the loss. The game was loosely played with only one batter from each team snagging any hits. John Edling cracked two hits for Times Square while Rick Freeburg went four for four to close out the night for Nelson & Ellberg.

Then in their last at-bats, the Beverage men got untracked. Bud Berdine opened the frame with a single and Bill Massa drew a one out walk.

Jack Karkosky followed with a triple to score both runners and Beverage pitcher Dean Stewart made the slim margin stand up in the Auto Clinic's half of the frame.

The Automen had taken a 1-0 advantage in the first. Denny Morell stroked a one-out single but was forced at second on a ground ball by Bob Hoden.

Mike Mohney's single and a Beverage misplay allowed Hoden to come home, giving the Automen an early lead. Stewart handled Auto Clinic after that and finally got some support from his teammates, to win the duel with Sorensen.

In the opener Nichols scored single tallies in the second, third and fifth frame to hang up his seventh straight triumph. Singles by Paul Johnston and winning pitcher Jim McMeans, coupled with Dick White's run-scoring flyout got Nichols off to an early 1-0 edge.

In the third, Jim Feihman ripped a one-out double and rode home on a triple by Tom Le Trent. SOI got one back in the fifth on basehits by Ange Regina, Booney Sturdevant and Jim Tassone, but Nichols led it with another tally in the fifth.

Feihman singled to open the frame, then Jack White and Bob Larson also hit safely to drive in the final tally.

Jim Lonborg Pitches 16th Victory

CHALK UP ANOTHER
Pittsburgh's Glenn Beckert takes the throw from catcher Randy Hundley in the second inning of Tuesday's game. Despite Wills' baserunning, the Cubs whipped the Buccos, 8-4. Yesterday, they split a doubleheader, the Pirates taking the second game, 10-6, after dropping the opener 6-0.

Cards Edge Dodgers, 3-2 In 11th; Bucs, Cubs Split

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Wes Parker's throwing error enabled Mike Shannon to score the winning run as the St. Louis Cardinals pushed across a run in the 11th inning and defeated Los Angeles 3-2 last night. Shannon had opened the 11th with a double and after Roger Maris was purposely walked, Phil Gagliano also walked, loading the bases.

Ed Bressoud popped to Parker, the Dodgers' first baseman and when Parker's throw to the plate bounced wide, Shannon raced home.

That ended a battle of homers. Jim Campanis, batting for Los Angeles starter Don Drysdale tied the score at 2-2 in the eighth with his second homer of the year. He sent a Larry Jaster pitch high into the left field seats.

The Cardinals had taken the lead in the third on homers by Bressoud and Lou Brock. Bressoud's homer to left was his first run batted in of the year. Brock's 15th homer to left extended his hitting streak to 16 games.

Dick Schofield led off the game for the Dodgers with a homer to left field off Jaster. The Cardinals were playing without their leading batter, Orlando Cepeda. The big first baseman was suspended for two games and fined $100 Wednesday following a Tuesday night run-in with umpire Stan Landes.

Pirates-Cubs
CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie catcher Manny Sanguillen socked a bases-loaded double, driving in three runs as the Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for four runs in the ninth inning and a 10-6 victory over Chicago in the second game of a doubleheader yesterday.

The Cubs won the first game 6-0 behind Ferguson Jenkins' four-litter.

A single by Gene Alley and walks to Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell loaded the bases for the Pirates with one out in the ninth.

Manny Mota's sacrifice fly drove in one run and then Bill Mazeroski was purposely walked, loading the bases again for Sanguillen.

Chicago had tied the score in the eighth on Clarence Jones' leadoff home run.

Al Luplow tagged a three-run homer in the fifth inning for Pittsburgh but the Cubs clipped away at the Pirate lead, finally tying the game on Jones' shot.

In the opener Jenkins became the National League's first 15-game winner with his 12th victory in Wrigley Field this season.

From the third through the eighth, Jenkins mowed down 16 straight batters in gaining his second shutout of the season. He struck out nine.

A Browns spokesman said if Roberts does not make the Falcons, he will return to Cleveland.

The 24-year-old former Columbia star has not played since joining the Browns two years ago. Roberts has been studying medicine at Western Reserve University.

Sparky Lyle 'Saver' In 5-1 Red Sox Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Right-hander Jim Lonborg, with relief help, became, the major league's first 16-game winner and Jerry Adair drove in three runs, leading Boston over Kansas City 5-1 last night.

The victory moved Boston within 1 1/2 games of American League leading Chicago.

Lonborg, who has lost five, flew to Kansas City earlier in the evening from Atlanta here he is serving a two-week stint with the Army Reserves.

Sparky Lyle relieved Lonborg in the eighth after Mike Hersberger's two-out double drove in Danny Cater with Kansas City's only run, and pinch hitter Ted Kubiak followed with a single.

Lyle got pinch hitter Joe Nosske to fly out.

In the second Adair singled home Elston Howard, who had singled for his first hit since joining Boston from the New York Yankees last week. He also singled home two runs in the three-run seventh, the third scoring on catcher Phil Ruff's error.

Boston also scored in the sixth on a walk, Adair's single and a ground out.

Tigers-Chi Sox
DETROIT (AP) — Earl Wilson fired a five-hitter and Al Kaline drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and a home run as the Detroit Tigers defeated the American League-leading Chicago White Sox 4-2 last night.

Wilson, 15-9, pitched his way out of two jams with key strikeouts.

Kaline drove in a run in the first with a sacrifice fly after Dick McAuliffe led off with a walk and Don Wert doubled, Kaline's 19th home run came in the third off rookie Fred Klages, 0-2.

The Tigers added two runs off relief pitcher John Buzhardt in the sixth. Norm Cash's double, a walk, a wild pitch and pinch hitter Lenny Green's sacrifice fly brought in one run. When rookie shortstop Rich Morales fired Walt Williams' relay into the stands on Green's fly ball, another run came in.

Wilson coasted along on a one-hit shutout going into the sixth when he walked pinch hitter Wayne Causey.

Williams, who had three hits, singled to left and Don Buford walked, loading the bases.

Causey scored on Tom McCraw's sacrifice fly and Wilson gouted out of the jam by getting Ken Boyer on a tap to the mound and fanning Pete Ward.

Twins' Catcher Batte Injured

Battey suffered a dislocated right thumb when struck by a foul ball in Tuesday night's Twins-Washington game here. Izkierdo, 36, a native of Cuba who now lives in Miami, Fla., has played in the minors in this country since 1951. He was batting .300 in 115 games with Denver this season with one home run and 39 runs batted in. He is a right-handed hitter.

He was due to join the Twins last night.

River Muddy, So Anglers Fish Tionesta Reservoir

TIONESTA — For the umpteenth time this summer weekend fishermen in the Upper Allegheny River found this stream flowing a torrent of mud. The river was high and swift after three-inch rains in its headwaters in Warren County and New York state.

Those fishermen who did not count the weekend lost turned to the Tionesta Reservoir. Many were successful, despite heavy boating activity.

Three muskies were caught there, one of which, a 31-inch, eight pounder taken on a jitterbug by Guy Smith of Gallie, was entered in the Haller contest.

The Sabot brothers of New Kensington and Barking, continued their private fishing contest (who can catch the most bass over 15 inches long for the Haller derby).

Last week the brothers were tied, but Pete surged ahead Sunday, with 20 1/4-inch smallmouth bass which he caught in the Reservoir on a frog.

Pete now has six bass, Joe five.

The only other entry in the Haller contest was an 18 1/2-inch trout which Fred Deets of Titusville, RD 5, caught on a minnow while fishing Little Sugar Creek.

Deets is now running away with the "most trout over 15 inches" division. He has 10 on the books.

The leaders in all categories are:

Most trout over 15 inches, $25 — Fred Deets, Titusville RD 5.
Longest muskellunge, $50 — Thomas Fiscus of Warren, 49 1/2 inches, Allegheny River at Irvine.

Longest walleye, $50 — William J. Ostrom, New Brighton, 31 1/4 inches Allegheny River near Franklin.

Longest bass, $50 — Charles Lucas of Lower Burrell, 21 1/2 inches.

The Haller contest also pays Visitor Scores

Paul D. Trexler of Johnstown, traveling through this area after a tour of New England and Canada, landed a 19-inch, 3 1/2-pound smallmouth bass in the spillway of the Kinzua Dam on Tuesday.

He used a softshell crab to hook his trophy.

$25 each to the fisherman catching the most legal muskies, most walleyes over 20 inches long and most bass over 15 inches long.

Trout Facility Dedication Set

Members of Trout Unlimited will dedicate their experimental project on the west branch of Spring Creek Saturday, August 12. The ceremonies will take place at 1 p.m. at the first bridge above the Selkirk pumping station, the lower end of the experimental section.

The public is invited to attend the dedication and urged to bring along their fishing equipment and enjoy some of the trout fishing Caldwell Creek is famous for during the late afternoon and early evening.

Free refreshments consisting of hot dogs and a beverage will be served by the club.

Boosters' Campaign Off to Flying Start

The Warren Sports Boosters campaign for advertising in the 1967 Football Program has gotten off to a fast and flying start. The campaign is being conducted by mail this year and on Tuesday commercial and industrial firms in the Warren area received their appeal for Booster support in the coming year. Six of those firms solicited returned their replies that same afternoon.

Club Treasurer, Shurl Glass, reported that the "Early Boosters" were: Community Consumer Discount Co., Clyde R. Norris, Inc., James B. Connolly, Girtens Flowers & Gifts, Montgomery-Ward and Watts Office Supply. Glass indicated that he was particularly encouraged by the early response because two of these firms are new advertisers in the program and a third had increased the size of his ad from previous years. "If this trend continues," Glass added, "we should have a successful campaign."

Dr. Ray Lowe, Secretary of the Sports Boosters, was equally pleased with the early results. "The stress given the importance of this campaign by the local press and radio have been of tremendous assistance," Dr. Lowe said upon learning of the first returns.

With local business indicating their continuing support of the Booster's programs, it is hoped that individuals in the community will respond with equal enthusiasm. Parents, fans and all persons interested in local high school sports are urged to join the Booster team by becoming Sponsors or Patrons in the program. Sponsor listings, a $10 donation, or a $5 donation for a Patron listing also included a Booster membership for the 1967-68 season. These contributions should be sent to the Boosters, Box 304, Warren.

Group Supporters Protests

Members of the Chautauqua Area Committee for an Enlightened Foreign Policy supported Hiroshima Day demonstrations in Buffalo and Erie on Sunday.

Erie's Independent Student Union sponsored a rally in Perry Square. Mrs. Elizabeth Boardman of the Quaker Action Group told about her trip to North Vietnam on the yacht Phoenix. Dr. Reid McFarland, Unitarian Minister in Erie, reviewed the history of United States involvement in Vietnam and Rev. Raymond Boose spoke on Christian responsibility.

Buffalo's rally, held in Delaware Park, was addressed by Rev. Kenneth Sherman, and Woody Cole, independent candidate for Councilman at Large in Buffalo, and the audience was entertained by members of the Vietnam Summer acting troop. The Hiroshima Day ceremony was climaxed by a march across the Peace Bridge.

DEBRIS REMOVAL, PARK

Youngsville Councilmen Consider Many Issues

By PEGGY AND LEW CRIPPEN

Youngsville borough council Monday evening agreed to permit a borough employee to use the borough equipment to remove the debris accumulating in the removal of the former Hill building on East Main st.

The building, acquired by the Youngsville volunteer fire department for access to the old athletic field where a fire hall will be constructed, has been in the process of dismantling for several months. The debris has recently attracted garbage dumping and council agreed it should cooperate in its removal.

The Youngsville Kiwanis club offered the pavilion of Kiwanis Park to the borough. Council accepted the structure and proposes to move it to the park adjacent to the Brokenstraw Swimming Pool. The shelter was moved to make room for the Youngsville bypass of Route 6 now under construction.

Councilman Seekings, a member of the Youngsville Recreation Commission, reported that 25,526 paid admissions were recorded at the Swimming Pool between Memorial Day and July 31. Swimming lessons were given to 265 with an average daily attendance of 85. The high school recreation program of basketball has attracted an average of 14 each day. The average at the playground held at the Youngsville elementary school is 50 daily.

James Malone, borough manager, reported that 139 ft. of 8 in. sanitary sewer has been replaced on Second st. between High st. and Water st. An additional manhole has been constructed and six house services were replaced. "The repairs will alleviate somewhat the sanitary sewer problem of the area, but there are still sewer problems east of High st.," Malone told council. For several years the Second st. sewer has been clogging up and causing problems for the residents.

Malone reported also that $12,936.01 has been collected in wage taxes by the Warren County school office.

Police Chief J. E. Chappel reported 76 parking tickets issued in July, $49 in fines deposited in the fine boxes, and $327.95 collected in the parking meters.

Council adjourned to August 15 when bids for the resurfacing of Second st. will be opened.

The 9th annual Upper Allegheny Hot Stove League benefit day will be held at Wilder Field on Saturday, August 12. Beginning at 1 p. m., an all-star game will be played consisting of members of intermediate division teams. Each team in the league may enter three players. There will also be a game featuring the junior league players against hot stove alumni who are twenty years of age or younger. The games will be played simultaneously.

During the festivities the Warren County league champions of the bantam, midget and cadet teams will be presented.

No admission will be charged. Hot dogs, pop and ice cream will be available at the concession stand.

The American Legion Auxiliary Hagreen Block Post 673 of Youngsville will hold a twelve picnic at 2 p. m., today, at Bob Williams camp. All members, friends, and children are invited to attend. Bob Williams camp is located off Route 62. Those attending should look for a Diamond sign two miles south of the Corral Inn.

A diabetic clinic will be featured.

Films Can Speak Five Languages

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

HOLLYWOOD — Motion pictures can now speak five languages at the same time, by incorporating five sound tracks instead of one. Small black boxes connected to the projector permit an auditor to select the language he wants.

The invention's developer, Jonathan A. Miller, sees it as having "revolutionary potentialities in entertainment and education."

The multitrack audio system does away with the expensive dubbing methods and bypasses the costly technical equipment now used by the film industry.

City of Jamestown Steamer Settles To Bottom of Lake

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. — The steamer City of Jamestown, moored at the boat landing for more than nine years, settled to the bottom sometime overnight Sunday.

The boat is almost covered to the gunwales at its mooring place. The craft, owned for some time by Glenn N. Solomonson, was later purchased by a private group and a Jaycees committee who planned to get the boat back into operation as a summer excursion vessel.

The City of Jamestown for many years plied the waters of Chautauqua Lake both as a scheduled steamer and excursion vessel. Groups from Warren often were on board for social affairs.

Lottsville MYF Visiting Expo 67

The M.Y.F. of the Lottsville Methodist Church left Warren Friday morning by chartered bus for Expo 67 in Montreal, Canada.

On Friday evening the group camped at Wellesley Island State Park. Saturday was spent sightseeing along the St. Lawrence River. Visits to the Eisenhower Lock and the Moses Saunders Power Dam were scheduled. Saturday evening the group arrived in Montreal. Sunday was spent sightseeing around Montreal.

The highlight of the trip, Expo 67, was visited on Monday and Tuesday. Today the group will come back along the Canadian side of Lake Ontario as far as Niagara Falls and camp near here overnight and see the Falls, then return home Thursday evening.

A total of 17 are taking the trip; 11 members of the M.Y.F. and their counselor Don Martin. They are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Briggs, Mrs. Rush Chapman Jr., Mrs. James Parler, and Alan Scott.

The group have been earning money for the trip since last October. They wish to thank all those who helped.

Viet Newspapers 'Censor Themselves'

By PETER BRAESTRUP

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON — "The government lifted censorship," observed a Saigon editor yesterday. "Now we have to censor ourselves. Everybody is still pretty cautious."

After considerable urging by American diplomats and journalists, the government suspended censorship of Vietnam's 39 daily newspapers on July 20. The move came two weeks before the official debut of the current presidential election campaign.

The order to lift censorship came from Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state, and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. They are candidates for president and vice president on the military ticket that faces opposition from 10 civilian tickets. There have been few complaints of a "one party press" from civilian candidates since censorship was lifted.

A spokesman for Ky said the government-run news agency, Vietnam Press, and the government radio had been told to give the election campaign "balanced" coverage. So far, according to both Vietnamese editors and anti-Ky politicians, this balance has been maintained by the government-run media.

For their part, the city's editors have eschewed polemics. Indeed, according to one survey, no candidate has received open endorsement from a Saigon newspaper. Even the pro-government Saigon Post, an English language paper, has yet to endorse the Thieu-Ky ticket. The Post on Saturday commented that "none of the candidates is endowed with the intellectual integrity and eloquence at a level approaching that of Winston Churchill. Suffering is no novelty for fifteen million South Vietnamese. Mutual trust between the rulers and the governed is."

Prior to July 20, a member of the Post staff said, such an editorial would not have passed the censors.

In general, anti-Ky editors contented themselves with reporting what anti-Ky candidates said about the military. The candidates' more inflammatory remarks were usually toned down or deleted.

One new event provided a test of the new freedom. Last Sunday a travel mixup in Quang Tri province resulted in temporary refusal of nine civilian presidential candidates involved to continue a 22-city campaign tour. Some candidates angrily accused the Ky regime of "sabotage."

Although the Saigon Post ran the story Monday morning, 10 Vietnamese language dailies in Saigon waited another day to report it. "They were not sure how the government would react," said an editor. As the controversy continued, coverage has improved.

Several newspapers have begun to speak up more boldly in general terms on other matters. For example, the French language Vietnam Nouvel yesterday criticized some of the Ky regime's ambassadors abroad, say they were merely "enjoying a vacation from the war" while their wives "speculated in foreign currency and smuggled goods."

"The (ruling) generals are very sensitive," a morning paper editor said. "But so far we have had no government complaints."

Salmon's heterogeneous newspapers—27 Vietnamese, 7 Chinese, 2 English and 2 French—have an estimated combined circulation of 867,000. Few are prosperous.

According to informed sources, their publishers were warned last month to be "responsible," or face possible suspension, seizure of their day's output, cuts in allocations of imported newsprint. Such threats hung over the local press under censorship as well. The chronically anti-Ky Vietnam Guardian, an English language daily, was suspended last December. Last May, Than Chung, the Saigon daily with the largest circulation (45,000), was suspended for a month for "espousing neutralist tendencies."

Censors, mostly Army officers, ordered editors to kill any articles that verged on "controversy"—including occasionally press accounts of impromptu speeches by the outspoken premier.

There has been no white space, denoting censored material, on Saigon's front pages since July 20. But newspapers each day still have to send over the first copies of each edition to the government press office. Presumably if a newspaper offends, the government can then decide whether to seize the whole press run.

So far, according to a spokesman for Ky, "we are satisfied with the situation."

The Constituent Assembly is expected to draft a new press statute later this month that will ban direct censorship. But the "obligations" of the press, as defined by the Ky regime, are not likely to change as long as the war goes on.

AT HAVANA NEWS CONFERENCE

Cuban Prisoners Questioned

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
HAVANA — Osvaldo Dorticos, president of Cuba made a surprise appearance here yesterday morning before a news conference at which two prisoners, accused of being agents of the United States Central Intelligence Agency, were being questioned by Cuban security officers and foreign journalists.

Dorticos entered the packed conference hall two hours after the meeting had begun, and said: "I was listening to the questions of the American journalists in another room."

"I came here because I am disturbed that some American journalists seem to doubt the veracity of the evidence" that had been presented during the morning.

The two prisoners had said they had been in the employ of the CIA and had told the journalists of infiltrating Cuba and of being captured in the western province of Pinar Del Rio on July 31.

Dorticos said that his appearance was prompted by a question from the correspondent of Look Magazine, who asked the prisoners whether they had come on a mission sponsored by a Cuban exile organization, or whether their connection was directly with the CIA.

One of the prisoners, Daniel R. Garcia Casanas, who said he had participated in previous clandestine operations in Cuba, answered that this mission "was strictly a CIA operation." He was questioned again about more proof.

Smiling broadly as he entered, Dorticos said: "You North American journalists have asked your questions. Now I would like to ask you my questions. I would like each one of you to stand up and give your opinion whether or not you believe this evidence."

As the crowd of nearly 400 looked on, four American correspondents of the Monthly Review, the National Guardian, the Militant, and the Worker, replied that they were convinced of the evidence.

Dorticos then said, "I want to hear from the Associated Press and the UPI."

The AP correspondent, John Wheeler, answered, "I am a journalist, not a judge."

The Look correspondent said, "I am not an expert in espionage. I would want more proof to satisfy myself."

Applause greeted Dorticos's rejoinder: "Why don't you ask President Johnson and the CIA?"

The other prisoner, Anibal Garcia Diaz, had been wounded in the right arm during his capture, the Cuban security officers said. He spoke in a low, broken voice, but flatly denied that he had been mistreated while in prison.

The purpose of his mission was to "bury and hide radio equipment for people who wanted to leave Cuba," Diaz said. U.S. Army Corps of Engineers maps of Cuban shorelines, bearing the stamp "for the Use of Officials of the United States Government Only" were displayed and were alleged to have been carried by the group.

The prisoners said that the weapons, supplies, maps and radio equipment on display in the room were "the same ones" that they had brought with them to Cuba.

The communications equipment can transmit very rapidly over long distances "from one to 3,000 kilometers," according to a Cuban army specialist.

Erie Man Held In Shotgun Death of Negro

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A white man was held for court yesterday in the shotgun slaying of a Negro man at the height of Erie's three straight nights of rioting and arson last month.

Thomas R. Burns, 32, of Erie was held for the grand jury on a general charge of murder in the July 19 slaying of Henry Lee Williams, 23, also of Erie.

Burns was remanded to the Erie County Jail without bond.

Alderman James Hogan said he could take no action on a defense request to alter the charge to second degree murder; he said that would have to be handled by the courts.

Police said the shooting occurred in the Shamrock Cafe near the scene of rioting in Erie's Cimmeron City section. They said that a gang of whites and Negroes shot it out following a quarrel over membership in a gang called the "Iron Hand."

At the time of the shooting, Capt. William Podbielski of the Erie police discounted that the incident had any racial overtones.

Death Rate in U.S. "Far Below Normal" in '67

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — The death rate in the United States dropped far below normal—sometimes below the minimal expectations—during each of the first 19 weeks of 1967, according to the communicable disease center of the United States Public Health Service.

Nobody knows why. The decline in the death rate—the number of persons per 1,000 who die—was based on data collected from 122 cities across the nation.

A total of 785,000 deaths for the first five months of 1967 was reported by the health service. The death rate for the period was 9.6 compared to a rate of 10 in 1966 and 9.8 in 1965.

"It is very unlikely that this is a chance occurrence," said Louis Werner, acting director of the health department's bureau of records and statistics.

"We have observed the same phenomena for the United States as a whole," said Mrs. Ida Sherman, acting chief of the communicable disease center's statistic section for the epidemiology program.

Asked for reasons for the situation, Mrs. Sherman declined to attribute the drop to any particular factor or combination of factors.

"We don't interpret data," she said. "These are just the figures we have."

Oversimplification DANGEROUS

Ex-Reporter Pinpoints Effects of Race Riots

Walter Erbland, formerly on the staff of the Warren County Observer, the Warren Times-Mirror and Observer, and United Press International, addressed Warren Kiwanis Club members yesterday on the nation's race riots.

Erbland, who is residing in Warren and working as a freelance fiction writer, covered the Hough district riots last year in Cleveland. He was reared and attended college in the Rochester area and was there during the riots which shook that city five years ago.

The discussion was about the "long, hot summer" of riots and violence in major cities of both the North and the South in the past five years.

Almost immediately upon joining UPI Erbland was rushed to Cleveland, to investigate for that news service the feelings, the attitudes and underlying factors of the riots in that Ohio city.

Having been reared in a town where any association with negroes was practically nil, these factors were alien to his experience. The frustrations, resentments expressed in violence make Americans who are spectators react with dismay, disgust and resentment. However, Erbland pointed up the deplorable conditions of the slums in which even relatively affluent negroes are forced to dwell, as well as the social insulation between the white community and the negroes makes for bitterness and anger on the part of the negro.

Erbland emphasized the lack of any true leadership of the negroes. Rather there is a struggle between many groups for leadership.

"There aren't any of these people who can go into a riot torn area and command the respect or allegiance of their people to bring them to halt the rioting," he said.

Lack of proper law enforcement Erbland cited as having been demonstrated in the past two days in hearings in Washington.

"The attitude of ignoring the negro in specific instances of law violation and letting it go unpunished, rather than incur the wrath, theoretically, of the whole negro population," says Erbland, "has resulted in nothing but greater audacity on the part of a few, plus increase in numbers of agitators and violence, by normally law-abiding citizens who, under the smoke screen of chaos and breakdown of law enforcement, will enter into looting and burning and destruction."

The speaker mentioned that 90 percent of those arrested in the recent disorders in Detroit were not unemployed, were not "welfare state children" but middle class negroes who hold jobs and had a degree of affluence. Erbland attributes much of this frustration, resentment and despair that drove these people into irrational criminal behavior to their inability to exert the normal power of money, to achieve the right they should enjoy by right.

Erbland said the greatest mistake is oversimplification. He did observe in Cleveland that the burning and destruction was mostly against deserted or dilapidated old buildings, many slated for demolition, against loan companies who charge higher interest than banks, and against merchants charging premium prices for inferior merchandise.

The philosophy of simply spending more money, Erbland said, is futile. Nor is erection of vast apartment complexes, where things would continue to broil and bubble. Instead, it is necessary to break up the ghetto and segregation by housing.

"This is the only way it will work," Erbland said.

CHARGES VIOLATION OF ROUSE LEASE

Oilman Plans Suit Against County

By TOM CURTIN

The lands surrounding the Rouse farm are once again headed for controversy as A. E. Hogset, operator of the oil lease on that property, is preparing to file against the county commissioners for actions which he says have greatly hampered and frustrated his operations.

Hogset purchased the lease in October of 1964 from Freeman and Cotton of Bradford for a price he reports as being $100,000. The Freeman and Cotton drilling company had leased the property from the commissioners. The lease was a standard type used in the oil business with seven-eighths of the revenue from production going to the operator and one-eighth going to the county. This same lease, with some reservations and restrictions on where wells may be drilled, is still in effect with the present operator.

Both Hogset and two of the commissioners have stated since the first well was drilled on the property that the Rouse farm has realized nearly $50,000 from its one-eighth of the production. In the 34 months Hogset has operated the oil lease, his seven-eighths has totaled more than $312,000. However, the average cost of a well there, $8,500, combined with the amount paid for the lease by Hogset, calls for a great deal more oil to make the investment pay off. Presently he has 32 wells in production and the producer claims he intends to drill a total of 75 before he has completed development of the property. Also he is installing a compressor plant to recycle the gas back into the oil sands.

The oilman's disputes with the commissioners cover a number of categories, but the most immediate one is an agreement by the commissioners with the S. J. Groves Construction Company, which is building the Youngsville bypass, to take gravel from the land for the road job. Hogset says he was not consulted on the deal and the land from which the gravel is to be removed is in the area he is presently developing. Well

Relatives Here

The murder of 12-year-old Connie Rae Carstater of Albion this week had local implications. The youthful victim had two aunts who reside in Warren. They are Mrs. Glenn (Dorothy McDonald) Robinson, of 11 Second ave. and Miss Ann McDonald, 16 Jefferson st.

Number 33 which is nearing completion is located at the foot of a large hill where bulldozers and earthmoving equipment began stripping the surface in preparation for gravel removal this week.

Hogset also is preparing to take issue with the state in order to gain some remuneration for the large amount of mineral rights which will be made inaccessible by the new highway. Four of his present wells must be abandoned for the new road. The producer says the area displaced by the highway and the gravel operations will take away 60 acres from which he will no longer be able to produce oil. Already he has had a geologist make an appraisal of the property based on several well logs and production records which provide a basis for evaluating the mineral rights to be taken away. The county commissioners could not be reached for comment this week. They are attending a convention of the Pennsylvania Association of County Commissioners in Philadelphia. The commissioners are Lewis Crippen, Deac Lay, and Blain Mead.

Hogset has been consulting with his attorneys and expects to file against the commissioners sometime this week. As of early yesterday afternoon a check with the prothonotary's office revealed the case had not yet reached there.

In the meantime the operator says, "I don't know if I'm in the oil business or not" and refers to the actions of the commissioners, the problems brought on by the by-pass and the possibility of a price cut in oil as production in the Penn crude field has soared to where the small refineries handling it have surpluses of oil too large to cope with.

CENTER OF THE CONTROVERSY

This drilling rig belonging to the Cotton and Freeman Drilling Company of Bradford, is drilling well Number 33 on the Rouse farm oil lease operated by A.E. Hogset of Youngsville. Hogset is preparing to file charges against the County Commissioners for a deal they made with the S.J. Groves Construction Company, which is building the Youngsville by-pass, as his immediate oil development was slated for on the land from which the gravel is to be removed. In the background can be seen part of the land which has been stripped this week by the construction company in preparation for the gravel removal. (Photo by Curtin)

Forest Fire Wardens

In the account of the Annual Forest Fire Wardens' picnic at Pitohole Saturday, carried in Tuesday's Times-Mirror and Observer, it should have been reported that the wood chopping contest was won by Bill York. York, chopped an 8 x 8 inch block with an axe. Bill York and Lester Utegg, both from Sugar Grove, were on the team that won the cross-cut saw contest.

Named Queen

Mrs. Dean R. Nelson of Glenwood, Pa. has been named divisional Queen in the Philadelphia division of Investors Diversified Services Inc. She is the wife of Dean R. Nelson who won the honor for her by achieving an outstanding production record in the division during the 1967 spring sales campaign. Mrs. Nelson will be crowned August 16 in Minneapolis. Nelson is the son of Mrs. Harold T. Nelson and the late Mr. Nelson of 13 Parker st., Warren. The family will visit in Warren later this month.

Two Escape Injury In Motorcycle Mishap

Two persons escaped injury in a 6:25 p.m. accident Tuesday at the intersection of S. State and Church streets in North Warren.

State police trooper John D. Barnes, who investigated, said a car driven by Vincent M. Hoffman, 63, of 119 S. State, attempting a U turn, pulled in front of a motorcycle operated by Donald Paul Wagner, 18, of 414 S. State.

Arsonist Hits Again In Kane

KANE — A fire termed definitely arson gutted part of a large unoccupied frame dwelling known as the "James Place" in Kane at 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Fire Chief H. D. Gardner said he has asked State Police Marshal John Paxton to investigate. Gardner linked the blaze with a fire which destroyed the McCluskey Lumber Co. plant July 23 and a small fire which destroyed a lease building several weeks ago.

"It was arson. There were no electricity or other utility connections in the James building, which has been unoccupied for three years," the chief said.

The well-built structure was erected by the James family and is now in the hands of E. H. James of Crystal Springs and Howard James of Philadelphia, trustees of the May James estate.

There was no immediate estimate of damages but the house is believed to be a total loss.

Columbus Residents Facing Tax Increases for Schools

The Columbus school board which ended its fiscal year with a balance of $275 at the end of June, felt reasonably happy when it ended the month of July with $9,826 in the bank.

Then the blow fell. The board received a bill for shares to the Corry Area Jointure of $22,000, up $4,000 from the previous bill. The bill will remain at $22,000 from here on in, according to board members.

With the bills already in and calling for payment, Columbus has not been successful in getting some state reimbursement for last year and must depend on early tax revenues to operate.

In other board business, Joseph Pitcavage, representative of the Corry Area Joint School Committee, was asked to check with other jointure member districts to see if it is necessary to advertise the full year-end audit which it has been doing along with the others.

The advertisement is a costly requirement and Columbus is in the mood to trim costs.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

Needing people, organizations, and (a special category) government bureaucrats is, at best, a frustrating occupation.

Columbians throughout the country know this, Harold Coffin of The Associated Press laments, "I have so few friends left that when my phone rings I can answer it by saying 'Wrong Number.' Most of those who write to me say, 'I cut your column out of the paper every day.' I wonder what they mean by that? Publicity guys send me their press releases in 'postage due' envelopes; and when I go to lunch with a lobbyist, I'm the one who has to pay the tab. Dogs interrupt their pursuit of mailmen to run over and bite me. But my wife reads these paragraphs every day — to find out why she's mad at me."

What makes columnists print such vituperative remarks about public-spirited citizens? Why do they always have to find the fault in things? Is there something missing in their mail eup — are they wired up wrong?

My answer is that they must be — not because they pick on poor politicians or (worse yet) appointed officials who milk the public, making (for example) a nine-month project last three years. My reason for seeing columnists in this light is that they have to have something wrong with them to work for less wages than they can make tending bar to alienate people who, if the columns were never written, the public would neither know nor care about — and perhaps don't anyhow. Why risk a slug in the teeth to tell the public what you think is wrong with a system, when you can ride the tide and drift complacently through life with lots of friends?

There are several reasons, I think, but chief among them is that I believe the public has a right to know and if I don't take it upon myself to tell them, they never will know. 'No else is going to say it? The people who now find themselves embarrassed in news columns? Not by much.

That's why the question, "What purpose does it serve?" rankles me. No purpose, perhaps. But anything which involves the public, be it tax-supported or supported by donations or merely in the public domain because the public sees it, is news, and the people have a right to know. They particularly have the right to know all of the facts about what is being done with their money in their community by their elected "representatives."

Jamboree Scouts Visit Yellowstone

Dr. Khlar McDonald, who is piloting four Boy Scouts from Chief Cornplanter Council to the World Scout Jamboree in Idaho, has sent his first report of the trip.

The four youths are Grover Cleveland, John Lasher, Bill Dixon and George King, all members of Troop 8 sponsored by Jefferson Men's Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church.

En route the group visited Yellowstone Park, arriving by air at West Yellowstone airport. They stayed overnight in a cabin, and experienced night temperatures near freezing. Old Faithful geyser performed just at sunset after their arrival.

On their excursion through Yellowstone Park Dr. McDonald reports big black bears were frequently seen. "Bears ambled up in front of the bus, and promptly sat down in the middle of the road to arrange their hair-do's. George King was overwhelmed by the sight of two bear cubs hanging suspended from the limb of a tree about 30 feet off the ground. Mother bear placidly lay beneath the tree, attempting to take a peaceful nap."

The abundance of moose and elk about the park the men report was unbelievable.

Before landing at the World Jamboree, held for the first time in the United States, at Farragut State Park in Idaho this week, they made a brief visit to Seattle and Tacoma. The sight of Mount Hood and Mount Rainier from the air they found an awesome and beautiful sight.

The group arrived Sunday evening at the Jamboree by bus and set up their tents and camp site equipment in 45 minutes. "Our host corps advisor was impressed." The following day they erected a gateway to their area.

15,000 Boy Scouts from 100 countries are observing the 12th World Jamboree.

"The opening campfire was one to end all camp fires," McDonald says. Colors of various uniforms, backed up by a tremendous show and superb fireworks to music—what a full day!"

The second day was marked by jamboree games and getting acquainted.

The Warren group and the rest of their jamboree troop held a campfire in the evening with a British troop from Cheshire, England. "At the close of the camp fire our brother Scouts from England brewed tea for us—a rather novel ending for a campfire."

Third day, the Warren boys were up at 5 a.m. to try their hand at fishing in the mountain streams, followed by a full day of events. Hot days and cool nights mark the jamboree.

Heloise Hints
Tips For Chefs

DEAR HELOISE
Here are a couple of tips for the outdoor chef whether male or female when barbecuing.

For some years I have doused the remaining burning charcoal with water rather than letting it burn out to become nothing but a pile of worthless white ashes. Why 'burn money' I always say. The charcoal will be ready to reuse when you're ready for it.

For drenching the burning coals I use a plastic snap-top bottle filled with water. This can be squeezed so that the thin stream of water can be controlled.

I find it best to move the burning charcoal into one area of my barbecue pit. water it move the coals around a bit more and quit some more water on until the coals quit steaming and sizzling. Save the salvaged coal for the next feast.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE
Everyone I'm sure has days when it's hard to get started—when getting dressed and straightening up the house doesn't seem worth the effort.

When I have such a day I pretend that some old boy friend is going to pass through town and look me up. So I dress neatly, put on my make-up with care and bustle around with the housework. Then when my REAL boy friend comes home from work he's the one who can't get started.

DEAR HELOISE
The best man was the brother of the groom, James E. Knott of Parsippany, N. J.; ushers were Ray Nelson and Norman Wilson of Jamestown.

Grandmothers, Mrs. Emily Swanson of Jamestown, N. Y., and Mrs. Harold Fox of Erie, were remembered with corsages of white carnations.

Heatherdale-Knott Marriage Solemnized In 1st Methodist

Warren's First Methodist Church was the setting for the exchange of nuptial vows between Frances Ann Heatherdale and William Ray Knott recently. One hundred and twenty-five guests witnessed the double ring ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Sherman Epler.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Heatherdale of 1201 Hill street, Ridgway, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray William Knott of 125 Springdale avenue, Jamestown, N. Y.

Wedding music was provided by Arthur Lydell at the organ, and baskets of white pompons with white tapers at either side adorned the altar. A white carpet was laid down the center of the aisle for the bride to walk on.

Escorted on the arm of her brother, Sam Heatherdale of Ridgway, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over nylon taffeta with long tapering sleeves and a scalloped bateau neckline with sequins edging the lace. Her long matching lace mantilla formed a chapel train and was also edged with sequins. She carried pink and white rosebuds.

The maid of honor, Cheryl Crappio of Warren, wore a blue lace gown over nylon taffeta with matching veil and she carried blue and white carnations. Beverly Heatherdale of Ridgway, sister of the bride, was in a floor length lace dress of white over blue taffeta. She wore a crown of sequins and pearls with a veil matching her gown and carried a basket of summer flowers.

The best man was the brother of the groom, James E. Knott of Parsippany, N. J.; ushers were Ray Nelson and Norman Wilson of Jamestown.

DEAR HELOISE
Use cold water to help you measure shortening precisely. For instance:

When measuring one-third cup of shortening put two-thirds cup of water into the measuring cup. Then subtract the shortening in cold water until water level rises to one cup. Dump out the water and there you have exactly one-third cup of shortening.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You probably know as much about human nature as almost anybody in the world. I am no Ann Landers but I, too, have a front row seat to what goes on in people's lives. I run a coin laundry.

First, let me tell you I am a man. People call me an extravert. My wife says I have a big mouth and no tact. I am writing because I want to pin a rose on every hard working wife who never thinks of herself as a heroine. Believe me, she really is.

Night after night I see women come in here carrying big bundles of laundry. Sometimes they are pregnant. "Where's your hubby?" I ask them, and the answers are always the same. "At the ball game," or "Asleep in front of the TV" or "He had to go out some place."

Before I got into the laundry business I used to think that a man who held a steady job had a right to sit on his duff when he got home at night but I have changed my tune. Those women who haul in the bundles of laundry have also been working all day. Please print this letter. It won't perform any miracles so far as the lazy husbands are concerned, but it might make the wives feel better.—FLORIDA READER

DEAR FLORIDA. Here's the letter and, like you, I don't expect any miracles either, but it should make the wives feel better—and I hope it does.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am in bad trouble. I saw an article in a store that I wanted. It cost 75 cents. Dad said I didn't need it, so I took it when the clerk wasn't looking. I know it was wrong. I shouldn't have taken it. But I did and now I am in a real jam.

I showed the article to my brother and that was a big mistake. He says I have to let him have his way all the time now or he will tell my dad about the article I stole.

Please help me out of this and I will never take anything that doesn't belong to me again as long as I live.—WORRIED STIFF

DEAR STIFF: Go to your father and confess. Ask him how you can earn 75 cents to pay for the article. Then take the money to the store, tell the clerk what you did, pay for the article and let this be a lesson to you. And you can tell your brother that a black-mailer is as bad as a thief and he should reform, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 22 (old enough to know better), and I made a big mistake. I was going with a wonderful man who had two more years to finish professional school. I told him I'd wait.

Just as we were about to announce our engagement I had some girl-talks with my sorority sisters and they said the fellow was nice but he was "funny looking" and I'd be ashamed of his looks as the years went on. Like a fool I broke off with him.

That was four months ago and now I am eating my heart out. The handsome Jacks are nothing compared with my old flame and I want him back. Any advice?—FOOLISH GIRL

DEAR FOOL. Run, don't walk, to the nearest phone. Call the old flame and level with him. If he hasn't replaced you with a dame who has a full set of brains consider yourself plenty lucky. I'll keep my fingers crossed, Buttercup.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ORTHODOX SEMINARY CHORAL GROUP TO SING

A small Byzantine choral group consisting of seven Greek Orthodox seminarians from the Holy Cross Greek Orthodox Theological School in Brookline, Mass., will be visiting Jamestown on Monday, August 14, as guests of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church Mt. Vernon Place. The seven voice Byzantine choral group is presently on a 3,000 mile tour of the Northeastern part of the U. S., and is visiting the Greek Orthodox parishes of some 35 cities in 11 states. At each of these parishes the group is presenting a color slide program on the Holy Cross Greek Orthodox Theological School interpreting its goals and purposes. The group also participates in church services and gives small recitals in Byzantine church music and Greek folk songs. In Jamestown, the group will take part in Vesper Services helping Rev. Fr. Costas J. Kouklis, priest of St. Nicholas Church on Monday, 7:30 p.m. After Vesper Services, Mr. Terry Tonethus, president of the Greek Community, with his officers and the various organizations and members of Greek church, will welcome the group in church Fellowship hall where the program will take place. It is open for anyone wishing to come. The next day, August 15, the feast of "The Repose of Virgin Mary Theotokos", Fr. Kouklis with the Seminarians will officiate the Divine Liturgy in Byzantine music from 10 to 11 a. m.

Hazel Yeversky-Ernest Hamilton Exchange Vows In Sugar Grove

Hazel (Dee Dee) Yeversky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Yeversky of Sugar Grove, and Ernest Hamilton, son of Mrs. Susie Hamilton of Bear Lake and the late Mr. Arthur Hamilton, were united in marriage recently on the birthday of the mother of the bride.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Hall in the presence of more than a hundred guests in the Peoples Church at Sugar Grove. Organist was Mrs. Landin and vocal soloist was Mrs. Hall. Decorations were carried out in arrangements of palms and vases of white gladioli with vines of white flowers. White satin ribbon marked the family pews.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her mother, the bride appeared in a floor length gown of white silk organza over bridal taffeta. The molded bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline and the long sleeves tapered to wedding points at the wrists, the gracefully full bouffant skirt had a chapel length train of gathered Chantilly lace ruffles flecked with sequins of aurora borealis. Appliques of the lace also adorned the bodice. Her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a scalloped crown of seed pearls crested with aurora borealis.

Miss Sharon Yeversky, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and wore a yellow floor length gown of peau de soie and a headpiece of a yellow net rose. She carried three yellow gladioli tied with green ribbon. The bridesmaids were the Misses Susan and Martha Yeversky, sisters of the bride, Shirley Nelson, June Lord, Diane Brunecz and Mona Southwell. All wore mint green gowns identical to that of the maid of honor, and had matching net rose headpieces. Each carried three pink gladioli tied with matching ribbon. The gowns were fashioned by Sharon Yeversky, Shirley Nelson and Mrs. Southwell.

The flower girl, Brenda Reese, cousin of the bride, was in a long frock of yellow with matching net rose headpiece. She carried a white basket filled with yellow roses.

The best man was Leslev Craker and ushers were Gary Diehlis, John Landin, Larry Up-ton, Clifford Smith, Larry Little and Collin Brunecz. Kevin Yeversky, brother of the bride, was the ringbearer.

The mother of the bride chose a two-piece dress of pink lace and a matching velvet bow and veil headdress, white accessories. The mother of the groom was also in pink lace but had bone accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations. The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Victor Hammond, and Mrs. Max Warner, a close friend of the groom's family, were both honored with white carnation corsages.

Following the nuptial service, a reception was held in the church parlor. Decorations were in pink and white with the bride's table centered with a large wedding cake baked and decorated by the mother of the bride. Aides were Mrs. Hazel Reese, aunt of the bride, who cut and served the cake, Sandra Reese, cousin of the bride, served punch from a silver bowl encircled with flow-

Diamond Grange Plans Fair Booths

A tureen dinner preceded the recent meeting of Diamond Grange at which Master Ralph Rapp presided. Roll call found all officers present.

At the business session it was decided to sponsor a booth at the Youngsville fair and also a waffle concession. Needlework was judged and the winners will go to Pomona Grange. Judges were Mrs. John Hagerman and her daughter.

The highlight of the meeting was the presentation of the Diamond Grange Hot Stove League to the members of the grange.

The literary program included group singing; a reading by Fred Blair "I'm One of the Fellows"; another reading by Bill Erickson "Woodchuck Hunting"; a skit by Jean Johnson and Doris Malm "Questions and Answers." In bringing the program to a close everyone joined in singing the Centennial Song.

It was announced that Pomona Grange will be held this Saturday at Watson Grange.

EDITH OWEN AS 'NETTIE'

'The Subject Was Roses' To Play at Chautauqua

Two years ago a sensitive drama by a relatively unknown young playwright opened on Broadway toward the end of the season and with no "big names" in its cast. This combination of circumstances well may have doomed a lesser play to obscurity. But "The Subject Was Roses" garnered rave reviews and inspired the critics to campaign actively in its behalf. In the next few months it made theatre history by winning the Pulitzer Prize in drama for its talented playwright, Frank Gillroy.

For his three-character cast, director Robert Snook has selected Edith Owen and Robert Allman to enact the quarrelsome and uncommunicative married couple, and David Snell as their misunderstood son.

"The Subject Was Roses" tells about this trio living within the intimacy of a family without sharing the warmth that family life implies. The 21-year-old son returns home after three years in the Army.

His parents have eagerly awaited his return, but his presence only serves to intensify their explosive tensions. Both parents love the son, but their own bad relationship prompts them to compete for his affections. The mother is silent and sulky toward her husband and over-protective toward her son. The father holds her responsible for his lack of business success and mutilates her with incessant drinking and casual infidelities. The son blames first one parent, then the other, and finally attains maturity by accepting and loving them as they are.

Time Magazine said: "In 'The Subject Was Roses,' Broadway has that rarest of dramas, a play that dares to show its face, and not its heels, to reality and to life."

"The Subject Was Roses" will play today and Saturday in Chautauqua's Norton Hall. Curtain time is 8:30. The next attraction, and the last of the season, which plays August 17 and 19, will be Muriel Resnik's delightfully sophisticated comedy "Any Wednesday."
